LIGHTNING BELIEVED CAUSE OF DEATHS IN CROW'S NEST MINE

Three Killed by Exploding Gases—Eleven Others Escape Uninjured—Mine Ordered Closed Pending Investigation by Government Inspectors—Bodies Are Recovered

MICHEL, B.C., July 5 (CP).—Exploding mine gases killed three men in this East Kootenay coal-producing town today, but eleven other men walked from the blast-rocked Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company workings without injury.

British Columbia Police blamed the tragedy on a lightning bolt which sparked 3,900 feet into the workings of No. 1 Mine along steel rails of the underground railway and ignited a pocket of gas.

The dead were identified by mine officials as: Edward Morrison, fireboss; William Cartwright, forty, fireboss; John Phillips, thirty-two, pipe-fitter.

Today was a slack day in "B" seam of the mine, or the death toll might have been much higher. Only fourteen men were in the working, instead of several hundred.

WAS SKELETON CREW

The mine had been closed for several days, but was slated for work tomorrow, and a skeleton crew had been sent into the workings to prepare for tomorrow's full shift.

Hon. W. J. Asselstine, British Columbia Mines Minister, ordered the mine closed pending investigation by Government inspectors into the explosion.

The three bodies were recovered by Draegermen from the British Columbia Mine Reacue Station at Fernie, B.C., who raced here over twenty-three miles of mountain road.

Turned back on their first attempt to enter the mine by breath-stifling coal-gas fumes, the rescuers rested a few minutes at the surface, then plunged into the gas-filled tunnel again.

SURVIVORS UNASSISTED

The eleven survivors were unable to get out of the mine for almost two hours, but finally reached the surface without assistance. Police said they were in a "safe" section

DEATH ADDS TO ITS TOLL

Second Victim of Prince Rupert Slayer Succumbs To His Wound

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., July 5 (CP).—A coroner's jury today viewed the bodies of two British Columbia Police officers and a taxi-driver killed in a gun-fight here yesterday, and adjourned inquests into their deaths until early next week.

Probes into the deaths of Inspector William J. Service and Sergeant Robert Gibson of the British Columbia Police will be held jointly next Monday.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

Inquest into the death of Mike Gurvich, who, police said, shot the two officers in the police office here, then fell before police bullets in a beer parlor where he was cornered, was adjourned until next Tuesday.

The body of Inspector Service, who came here as acting-inspector in charge of the Prince Rupert district only a month ago, will be sent to Kamloops on Wednesday for burial there. His widow and family will accompany the body.

Inspector Service was killed instantly by two bullets from the slayer's gun in the police office. Sergeant Gibson was shot in the back of the head while trying to disarm the slayer, and died in hospital today.

Warned by Constable Donald Taylor, who heard the shooting and saw Gurvich run from the building, other police officers followed Gurvich uptown.

They pursued him into a beer parlor. He fired at Corporal Harold Raybone and Constables G. H. Clarke and Terry Stewart as they followed him in, but missed.

"I've killed two of you already, and I'll get anybody else that comes near me," Gurvich shouted in the beer parlor.

A moment later he collapsed with a bullet in his forehead from the gun of Constable Clarke.

Police said they believe Gurvich had apparently become enraged after he was served with a summons for trespassing on the Canadian National wharf here earlier in the day.

IS WILLING TO GIVE TRAINING

Prime Minister Says British Pilots May Attend Canadian Flying Schools

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King told newspapermen following a Cabinet meeting today that Canada was willing to provide training facilities for British pilots in Canadian flying schools.

He said he had informed Sir Francis Floud, British High Commissioner to Canada, concerning this decision, and Sir Francis had transmitted it to the United Kingdom Government.

Canada has never declined to offer flying school facilities in a co-operative manner with the British Government, Mr. Mackenzie King said, but the Government takes the stand that such schools should be under the authority of the Canadian Minister of National Defence.

UNDER DEFENCE MINISTER

The British pilots would be placed in training establishments of the Royal Canadian Air Force, which are responsible to Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie, the Prime Minister said.

He stressed that the policy had been settled before last Friday's debate in the House of Commons, and added that tonight announcement was not timed to coincide with the Conservative convention, but was made as soon as possible.

The specific offer to train British pilots was made to clarify the situation in respect to co-operation in defence measures, the Prime Minister said. Sir Francis was asked to convey it to his Government and that was done by cable.

Mr. Mackenzie King said co-operation with the British Empire was not an issue, but that the issue was the best means in which to co-operate.

Buck Has Finger Bitten by Cobra

AMITYVILLE, N.Y., July 5 (AP).—Frank Buck, big game hunter and circus performer, nursed a lacerated index finger today, the result of a python bite suffered yesterday at his Massapequa zoo.

Buck was forcibly feeding the python, which had been on a hunger strike, when the twenty-four-foot constrictor suddenly snapped its jaws shut on Buck's finger.

Final Consent for Withdrawal Goes To Rival Camps

Twenty-Six Nations Give Unanimous Assent to British Scheme for Evacuation of Foreigners Fighting in Spain—Scheme Embraces Eventual Granting Belligerent Rights

LONDON, July 5 (CP).—The international non-intervention committee tonight dispatched for the approval of the the Spanish Government at Barcelona and General Franco, the insurgent leader at Burgos, the final plan for withdrawing foreign troops from fighting in Spain.

The representatives of twenty-six nations, reduced from the original twenty-seven by Germany's annexation of Austria, today gave unanimous assent to the British scheme expected to cost $13,750,000 to carry out. Full details of the evacuation plan will be revealed in a seventy-page White Paper to be published Friday.

SLIGHTLY REVISED

The scheme, which also provides for resumed land and sea control around Spain and ultimate accordance of belligerent rights to both combatants, was adopted in slightly revised form after Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, had persuaded the Soviet delegate, outside the committee, to withdraw his objection.

The Soviet representative, Charge d'Affaires Samuel B. Kagan, did so subject to the final approval of his Government, but this was generally expected to be given.

Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy each paid $62,500 to get the work started. Russia still refused to

Two Dead, Twelve Hurt After Blast

GEORGE WEST, Tex., July 5 (AP).—A roaring sheet of flame springing from an exploding fuel gas tank fatally burned two persons here today, injured twelve others, destroyed a cafe, a residence and three automobiles.

The explosion hurled two youths entering the cafe back on the sidewalk. Flames destroyed the one-story building, two automobiles and a truck parked nearby, and burned a residence behind the cafe. The total damage was estimated at $12,000.

First World Attempt At Solving Problem Starting in France

Delegates of Over Thirty Nations Attend Conference Called by President Roosevelt to Discuss Sheltering of Greater Germany's Jews

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, July 5 (AP).—Delegates of more than thirty nations assembled here tonight to thresh out the problem of sheltering Greater Germany's Jews, political refugees and would-be exiled at a conference called by President Roosevelt.

This constituted the world's first attempt at a round-table conference of nations to settle a problem as old as the Caesars.

Officially styled the Intergovernmental Committee on Political Refugees Conference, the sessions were scheduled to start tomorrow at this Lake Geneva resort to discuss means of finding new homes for those who have no place in the Third Reich.

Some eastern countries were expected to raise the problem of Jews in Poland, Rumania and Hungary.

Altogether, some quarters have estimated, 1,000,000 persons would migrate from great Germany if given an opportunity.

The British delegation was expected to arrive early tomorrow. The group, headed by Earl Winter-

HOOVER MADE INDIAN CHIEF

Former United States President Honored by Tribesmen at Stuart Lake

FORT ST. JAMES, B.C., July 5 (CP).—Herbert Hoover fished for trout in this historic northern Central British Columbia district today not only as former president of the United States, but also as "Chief Bread Giver."

On the grounds, in 1805, the first trading post was established by white men in New Caledonia, now British Columbia, the former chief executive was taken into the Stuart Lake Indian tribe, direct descendants of the Carriers, first Indians to meet white men here.

The tribe chose that title, "Chief Bread Giver," as a reminder of Mr. Hoover's humanitarian work during the Great War, when he headed the commission for relief in Belgium.

With the former President were Dr. Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University; Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture in the Hoover Cabinet, and A. L. Hager, Vancouver sportsman and the party's host.

Baby Bought in The Northwest for Forty-Dollar Tent

EDMONTON, July 5 (CP).—Sale of a five-month-old Eskimo baby for a $40 tent at Great Bear Lake, in the Northwest Territories, was reported here tonight by John A. MacAulay, K.C., Winnipeg lawyer, following a five-day trip to the North. Mr. MacAulay said the baby was purchased at Port Radium by an Indian family which had recently lost most of its children.

SAYS UNITY THREATENED

Retiring Conservative Party Leader Pleads for Plan of Reform for Progress

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP).—Reaction is fighting reform as Canadians are faced with the problem of maintaining Confederation, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, retiring Conservative leader, said tonight. The question now was: "Can we maintain this Confederation?"

There were dark forces at work threatening national unity, Mr. Bennett said, in a brief address at the conclusion of the banquet that wound up the first day of the National Conservative Convention.

Lifting again, as he did in 1934, the banner of reform for progress, Mr. Bennett said there were those who believed that the Conservative party stood for pure reaction.

"If it did, I would not be here," he said. "Neither would you."

OF PROFOUND IMPORTANCE

Prayers for the committee drafting the party platform were urged by Mr. Bennett. Its work was of profound importance.

"Tremendous results will follow our actions here," he said. "Stagnation or progress? Reaction or reform? Which shall it be?

"You haven't come all this distance or made sacrifice of time and

SAYS BOARD TO BUY NEW CROP

Cabinet Decides Purchases Of Wheat Will Be Made Without Limitation

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP).—The Canadian Wheat Board will purchase wheat from farmers in the crop year starting next August 1, without the limitations placed on such purchases during the present crop year, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today following a Cabinet meeting.

During the present crop year, the Wheat Board bought no wheat because of the restriction that it would only buy in case the market went below ninety cents a bushel, when it was prepared to pay eighty-seven and a half cents a bushel as an initial payment, with participating certificates covering any higher price the board was able to obtain when the wheat was sold.

There has been considerable agitation in the West that if farmers wish to sell to the board at the minimum price, the board should be prepared to buy regardless of the market price.

The Prime Minister said the Wheat Board will fix the minimum price for the coming crop year.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen Calls for Recognition of Debt to Empire and Dependence on Empire for Defence Against Attack, in Keynote Speech At National Conservative Convention

Plea Sounded for Harmony And Unity in the Dominion

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 5.—One man dominated the national Conservative convention today—the same man who rocked the 1937 convention at Winnipeg with a declaration on Empire relations. It was Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former party leader, former Prime Minister and now Opposition leader in the Senate.

In a keynote speech he assailed Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement the Government would not permit the British Government to establish air force flying schools in Canada. He called for a frank recognition of Canada's debt to the Empire and dependence on the Empire for defence against attack.

To many delegates it appeared he was defining the issue for the next election, one upon which the Conservative party could stand and win under its new leader. But as the day wore on forebodings crept into many minds.

While the speech received the uproarious endorsation of the convention as a whole, it became clear it met a cold reception from the large block of Quebec delegates who feared a declaration from the convention for full co-operation with the United Kingdom in defence matters along the lines of Mr. Meighen's speech might not be acceptable to certain parts of Canada.

PARTNERS IN COMMONWEALTH

If Canadians were partners in the British Commonwealth they should behave as partners and not lock the gate against Great Britain, declared Mr. Meighen. The first line of defence of Canada was the British Empire. There could be no separate and independent defence of this country.

Insurgents Fight Way Down Coast

HENDAYE, France, July 5 (AP).—Spanish insurgent forces fought their way down the Mediterranean coast toward the fortified town of Nules today, hewing a path through stubborn Government lines by dint of their superiority in airplanes and mechanized land equipment.

General Franco's Galicians opened the way by capturing the exporting town of Burriana, twenty miles north of Sagunto, while another column approached Villavieja, to the west, in an effort to force a ring around Nules, on the Castellon-Valencia Highway, fourteen miles north of Sagunto.

GIVEN WEEK TO REGISTER

Premier Pattullo Sets Limit On Offer—City Appeals To Ottawa

All transient unemployed single men now in Victoria who desire to accept the offer of transportation to their former place of residence must register by noon on July 12, it was stated by Premier T. D. Pattullo last night.

In order that the Government may know definitely how many British Columbia residents are now in the group in this city, the Premier said, it was necessary that the whole group should register, so that each individual case might be known to the Government's unemployment department. The Premier maintained only one offer of transportation had, so far, been accepted.

Concerning the general situation in Victoria, the Premier said:

Confers With 'Farmers' on Food Policy

LONDON, July 5 (AP).—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain summoned an influential group of Conservative "Farmer" members of the House of Commons today to a conference on the vital problem of food as a part of national defence.

The Government's agricultural policy was attacked at a meeting of a Conservative party committee, which sent Mr. Chamberlain a protest against his opposition to home production of foodstuffs to meet the nation's entire needs.

FOUR RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Colonist Carrier Plays Hero Role in Thetis Lake Accident

Following four near-drownings at Thetis Lake, new safety regulations will be imposed on bathers using the resort, it was intimated late yesterday.

Attracted to the beach by rumors of two earlier accidents, a Colonist reporter arrived in time to see a third swimmer throw up his hands and disappear beneath the surface of the water near the first float.

Tired out after an attempt to swim the stretch between the shore diving tower and the first float, twenty-four-year-old Jim Don, paper mill employee, now resident in the Braefoot Estates near Mount Tolmie, was sinking helplessly in the water when Gordon Ralston, fourteen-year-old Colonist carrier, noticed his plight and went to his aid.

DIVES TO RESCUE

The lad, after cautioning Don not to struggle, was able to hold his head above water and start for the safety of the float. Meanwhile further aid, in the form of the swimmer's brother, Jack Don, eighteen, and Jim Haslem, twenty-two, ar-

OTTAWA, July 5 (CP).—The Canadian Wheat Board during the coming crop year will buy all wheat offered it, paying an initial minimum price to be fixed later by the board, and giving the farmer participating certificates entitling him to share in any profits made by the board in selling above the minimum price, it was indicated here tonight.

OAKLAND CANNING WAREHOUSE IS BURNED

OAKLAND, Cal., July 5 (AP).—A block-long warehouse of the Pacific Coast Canning Co., filled mostly with empty boxes, was swept by a six-alarm fire tonight which for a time threatened many other buildings in Oakland's industrial area. Practically all the city's fire equipment was massed at the blaze.

ONTARIO WOMEN VICTIMS OF ASSAULT

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 5 (CP).—Provincial and municipal police of Eastern Ontario pushed forward a search tonight for William Dunning twenty-one-year-old farmhand, as surgeons held little hope for the recovery of Irene Mott, thirty-two, in critical condition with a fractured skull. Miss Mott and her mother, Mrs. Frank Mott, sixty-nine, were assaulted in their Kitley Township farm home about 6 a.m. today.

LATE TENNIS STAR GIVEN HONOR AWARD

PARIS, July 5 (CP-Havas).—Posthumous award of the Order of the Legion of Honor upon Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, famed tennis star, who died of pernicious anemia here yesterday, was announced tonight by Education Minister Jean Zay. The honor was conferred for conspicious service in the field of sports.

CHINESE-GERMAN SPLIT WIDENING

Departure of German Advisers Seen as Forerunning of Nazi Support of Japanese

HONGKONG, July 5 (AP).—Circles in close touch with the Chinese Government declared today that Chinese-German relations have become "even more serious than they appear."

Departure of German General Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen and twenty-eight of his assistant military advisers to the Chinese Government from Hankow today was judged only incidental in development of the situation. It ended a nine-year period of German military association with the Chinese Central Government.

There was a general belief in diplomatic circles that the Italian-German-Japanese anti-Communism pact would be tightened in the Far East, that Germany soon would make further moves to show her friendship for Japan, and that France and Britain would balance this by more obvious support to China—possibly financial.

Heavy Percentage Of Rural Teachers At Summer School

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, Addresses Student-Body of 1,000 at Victoria High School—Replies to Critics

THE increasing popularity of the new curriculum and the growing demand on the part of the public for what not many years ago were regarded as educational "frills" was the subject of gratified comment by the Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, in the address he made at the Victoria High School yesterday morning in formally opening the twenty-fifth annual Summer School of Education.

Harold L. Campbell, principal of the Summer school, presided, and with him on the platform were Dr. Weir; Dr. S. J. Willis, deputy minister of education; Rev. A. S. Imrie, who gave the invocation, and the members of the Summer school faculty. The auditorium was filled with teachers from all parts of British Columbia, Western Canada, and Pacific Coast states, who compose the student body of approximately 1,000 attending the five weeks' course. A great proportion are from rural school areas.

TEACHERS STUDYING

In welcoming the members of the faculty, Dr. Weir particularly mentioned Dr. D. H. Kulp, of Columbia University, New York, and the two University of Southern California instructors, Dr. R. G. Watt and Dr. E. W. Tiegs. It was gratifying to see such a big registration of teachers. Between 50 and 60 per cent of the teachers of British Columbia were probably attending Summer schools of some kind, either here or in Vancouver, elsewhere in Canada, or in the United States.

Dr. Weir discussed some of the criticism which came to his department. Some people seemed to think that teachers were not very practical, that they were so immersed in the school routine that they failed to keep in touch with realities. It should be remembered that it was a teacher of this province that drew up the present curriculum which was "an interpretation of life as it was being lived."

Another criticism was that teachers were overpaid, but salary increases had not kept pace with the advance in professional standards. Frequently, too, he was told that teachers were "going red." This criticism, it was alleged, generally came from the Fascist element in the community. A survey taken of the student body of the University of British Columbia showed that only eleven of the 2,000 students registered as Communists.

COST OF EDUCATION

Replying to the criticism that education was too costly, Dr. Weir said that last year the British Columbia Legislature had voted $600,000 less than it voted seven years ago, although there were 15,000 more students in the province. This, he thought, was doing pretty well. In fact, he admitted that he considered the province was not spending enough money for education. The normal population of the province, according to 1937 figures, was 780,000, but an influx of 83,500 shown by the statistics as at December 31 last—yet the province was spending less on education than when there were 150,000 fewer people. And it was more difficult to get the money today than at a time like the present when the province was paying over $3,000,000 for relief.

On the whole the new curriculum had been very favorably received, despite much criticism, and was growing in favor. Ten years ago household economics, art, literature and similar subjects were regarded as "frills." But the public mind was changing and the department was being urged to introduce more agriculture, more household economics, manual training and so on, he declared.

TEACHER PROBLEMS

The curriculum problems and professional problems of the rural school teacher were receiving consideration to the extent that the department was considering the publication of a bi-monthly bulletin to deal with these matters. Dr. Weir expressed gratification with the working of the new curriculum in the Peace River area, spoke of the increased appreciation of radio education, visual education and physical education, and touched on the extension of the free textbook and library services. The library grant had been increased by over 50 per cent in the past year.

The progressive attitude of the teachers had been greatly responsible for the progress made in connection with the new curriculum, said Dr. Weir, in extending to the students every good wish for the Summer.

questioning that there may be those amongst them of good intention, the movement is subversive of orderly government.

"They evidently feel that by force of numbers and by endeavor to inflame the public mind that the Government must give way to their demands.

TAG DAY TURNED DOWN

The City Council, in session last night, refused to grant permission to the unemployed to hold a tag day after hearing spokesmen for a delegation from the transients now quartered here.

The council gave the unemployed until Friday to vacate the Jubilee, Empire and Occidental Hotels after they had given the council a written guarantee they would be out of the above-mentioned premises in ten days following their arrival here.

Permission to hold meetings in the old Variety Theatre was refused the Single Unemployed Protective Association.

Before giving decisions, the aldermen met representatives of the unemployed, C.C.F., Relief Project Workers' Union, Women's Emergency Committee, Rev. Bryce H. Wallace, representing Victoria presbytery of the United Church, and Rev. Canon Chadwick.

CAMPBELL'S REQUEST

Requesting permission for a tag day, R. W. Campbell, publicity representative for the unemployed, said in part:

"In asking for a tag day, I think it is better that we put our position before you as single men. Our position is just this: The thing is that the single unemployed men still have to eat, and the men are still going to eat, regardless of the circumstances. We have tried to do everything possible in a constitutional manner and it is up to the City Council here whether or not we do break the law. If the council grants permission to hold a tag day, it will help us in our immediate requirements. We don't want to break the law, but if permission is not given, we have no other alternative."

Immediately after adjournment Mayor Andrew McGavin, on instructions from his council, sent the following telegram to the Federal Prime Minister and to Hon. Norman McL. Rogers, Dominion Minister of Labor:

WIRES TO MINISTER

"Delegation from Single Unemployed Protective Association applied to City Council tonight for permission to hold tag day for benefit of single unemployed relief workers. One spokesman of delegation stated (quote) We do not want to break the law, but if permission is not given for tag day we have no other alternative (close quotation). Application for tag day declined by council by unanimous vote. Very disagreeable situation developing here. Seven hundred men here now and three hundred more on way. Most undesirable this number be in this city of only 39,000 people. Council very much regrets unpleasantness to citizens due to Victoria being made scene of differences between Dominion and Provincial authorities and these men in this vitally important matter in which city is not directly concerned and has no jurisdiction. City Council urgently requests that immediate and effective steps be taken by the proper Government authorities to remedy the intolerable situation in prospect here."

While Victoria officially appealed to Ottawa for assistance, unemployed here were being fed and housed in quarters provided for them by the city when the contingents arrived from the Mainland. It was estimated some 500 men were now in the Capital City and an additional 200 on their way down from Ladysmith. This last group crossed from Vancouver to Nanaimo and proceeded to Ladysmith for a mass meeting there last night. They intended to move on to Victoria sometime today.

The Provincial Department of Labor reported twenty additional registrations at the special registration bureau here yesterday, bringing the total registered to fifty-six. Of that number thirty-nine gave their place of residence as British Columbia and the remainder declared themselves transients.

ENGINEERED IN COLD BLOOD

VANCOUVER, July 5. — Mayor George Miller in a public address tonight declared unemployed disturbances in Vancouver during the past two months were "engineered in cold blood" and organized months before they took place.

"This wasn't the work of hotheads," he said, speaking especially of the month-long occupation of public buildings in Vancouver which culminated in riots on June 19 when sit-downers were evicted from the Postoffice and Art Gallery.

"The men responsible for it," said the Mayor, "admitted to me in my own office that their plans were laid last Winter, while they and their misled followers were under the care and employment of the Government."

The Mayor, as head of the police commission, spoke in defence of the police who had been charged by the sit-downers and their supporters with brutality in the Postoffice eviction.

"The purpose is obvious," said the Mayor. Those responsible for the outbreaks "are determined to undermine general respect for law and to bring our police force into disrepute."

The Relief Project Workers' Union, which speaks on behalf of the jobless, was, the Mayor said, "fathered and fostered by the Communist party and was even organized originally by the Communists' traveling organizers. The direction of the R.P.W.U. remains to this day in the control of known Communists."

The Mayor reviewed briefly the 1935 trek to Ottawa and the Regina riots, which, he declared, "was engineered to a finish in true Communist style." Dealing directly with the recent disturbances in Vancouver, the Mayor said the fact that police refrained from taking the initiative as soon as buildings were occupied was a disappointment to the leaders of the occupation.

"The Communist party," he said, "had to go to great lengths to keep the buildings occupied. Younger men got fed up waiting for action and left the movement. As they tired of adventure, the party had to fill their places with older men and habitual drifters, who were lured by free meals, tobacco and clothing."

Concerning the eviction of men from the Federal Postoffice building, Mayor Miller said there was a general move to destroy public and private property. "The control of a mob is rough business at the best. Bear in mind, however, that only two of their number went to hospital. Meanwhile, several policemen were hurt. The injuries of two were serious. One of the officers may show permanent results of the manhandling he got.

PATIENCE IS EXHAUSTED

The Mayor said that last Winter some 5,000 men were given shelter in Provincial camps. These men disbanded this Spring. About 4,000 of the occupants got out and rustled jobs for themselves. "The other 1,000 followed their leaders to Vancouver. They were out to cause as much trouble as they could.

"I suggest to you that Vancouver has had more than enough of their tactics. Our patience is exhausted. These men have no quarrel with us. We had none with them until they made us the butt of a campaign directed primarily at senior Governments. The strategy of disrupting the peace and defying the police may please the Communists and the revolutionaries. It has no place in Vancouver, and I say that it will not be tolerated again."

of the mine, the three killed being the only ones actually in the section through which the blast ripped.

When the accident occurred, a heavy lightning storm raged over the mountain-studded Michel district. One report said a small fire was discovered in the mine just before the explosion, and officers said they thought lightning traveled down the rails, igniting gas, which burned momentarily before the blast.

The bodies were recovered at 5:30 p.m., M.S.T., slightly more than four hours after the explosion.

INSPECTOR ARRIVES

Mines Inspector E. R. Hughes came here from Fernie with the rescue crew. Hughes was one of the first to enter the blast-rocked workings.

Less than a year ago fire destroyed the surface workings of the Michel plant, operated by the Crow's Nest Company. A new steel tipple to replace the wooden one burned last October 25, is under construction.

Two Families to Receive Pensions On Police Deaths

CUSTOMARY pensions to the families of those killed in the service of the British Columbia Police will be extended in the case of Acting Inspector William J. Service and Sergeant Robert Gibson, who were fatally shot by Mike Gurvich in Prince Rupert on Monday, Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner of the force, said yesterday. Acting Inspector Service was shot dead. Sergeant Gibson succumbed to a bullet wound, dying at 4 a.m. yesterday at Prince Rupert Hospital. Their assailant was killed resisting arrest after the deed.

Urges Strong Party Stand on Canada's Empire Relations

The reaction to the Meighen speech was generous and spontaneous. To old-time party men it recalled the way the former leader had swept the Winnipeg convention with a defence of a previous utterance as party leader to the effect the Canadian Government should not enter a war in which Great Britain was engaged without a mandate from the people.

At Winnipeg sharp issue was taken with Mr. Meighen by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, then Premier of Ontario. Mr. Meighen was not a candidate for the leadership and Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett was chosen with Mr. Ferguson's support.

PARTIAL REFLECTION

Today not a word of protest came, although Quebec delegates expressed disagreement in private. A declaration from Hon. Maurice Dupre, joint chairman of the convention, was considered a partial reflection of their attitude.

Speaking in English after remarks of thanks in French for his election, Mr. Dupre, a member of the Bennett Cabinet, said harmony and unity in Canada were to be achieved by deeds, not words, and the deeds must be based on respect for provincial and minority rights, inspired by fair play, justice and broadmindedness.

As the Quebec delegates discussed the Meighen speech in little groups tonight, the general reaction among them was one of regret.

"We can make more progress at this convention by emphasizing the things on which the delegates from all the provinces are agreed," said a leading Quebec Conservative, "rather than emphasizing the things on which there is disagreement."

Asked if there was any truth in the rumors some of the French delegates had threatened to bolt the convention, several Conservatives said so far they had heard of no such threats, but it would largely depend on what developed later.

LEADERSHIP RACE

As the first day of convention ended in a banquet and dance, Mr. Meighen and his speech vied with the leadership race for first place in the minds of the delegates. From Mr. Meighen's friends the speech brought renewed pressure upon him to offer his name for the leadership, but there was nothing to indicate his determination to remain out of the contest had been shaken.

To all appearances the race was still between four men, Hon. R. J. Manion, Hon. J. Earl Lawson, Joseph Harris and Denton Massey. Three of these, all except Dr. Manion, were reported ready to withdraw if Mr. Meighen was nominated. Dr. Manion declared he was in the contest to the finish no matter who his opponent or opponents might be.

Both Dr. Manion and Mr. Lawson, as ex-Cabinet Ministers, occupied seats on the platform when proceedings opened. Hon. H. H. Stevens, about whose leadership aspirations mystery still prevails, was at the convention, but did not go on the platform. He rejoined the party last week after a three-year break in which he headed the Reconstruction party.

FIFTH MAN MENTIONED

Mr. Harris and Mr. Massey spent the day at the convention and were busy greeting delegates and meeting various groups. The fifth man mentioned as a leadership possibility, Murdock MacPherson, of Regina, did not appear at the convention, but his name still was discussed.

Senator A. D. McRae, of Vancouver, organizer of the party at the 1930 election, when it swept into office, received a belated presentation of an antique clock in recognition of his services, but rejected an invitation to become organizer again.

Both John R. MacNicol, joint chairman, and Col. Ralph Webb, of Winnipeg, who made the presentation, urged the senator to offer his services to the party once more. Mr. MacNicol said that with General McRae as organizer, Conservatives would win a general election this year, next year or in 1940.

"You don't want an old man to organize your party for you," said General McRae. "You want young blood—young blood in organization, young blood in leadership."

He was now eleven years older than in 1927 and as a member of the Senate had not the same contact with the people as he had when in the House of Commons. Moreover, he felt it was not in keeping with the responsibilities of a member of the Senate, a somewhat nonpartisan legislative body, actively to organize a political party.

CANNOT TAKE OLD POST

"I am sorry to say, therefore, it is not in the realm of possibility that I could take my old position," he said.

The clock, said Colonel Webb, had once been in the rooms of a king of France, at Versailles. It had been purchased with $2,000 contributed by delegates to the Winnipeg convention for the purpose of recognizing General McRae's services.

Chairmen and secretaries of the convention committee were elected permanent officials of the convention today after the report of the credentials committee was adopted and the gathering officially organized. The chairmen are Mr. MacNicol and Mr. Dupre; the secretaries, Gordon Graydon, M.P. for Peel, and Georges Heon, M.P. for Argenteuil.

As the afternoon session began, the temporary chairman, H. P. Hill, announced the report of the credential committee, which disclosed 1,038 delegates had registered. This, Mr Hill said, was 24 per cent ahead of the first day's registrations at the convention in Winnipeg in 1927. The full quota of delegates would likely be registered by tomorrow night, Mr. Hill said. There were still 480 accredited delegates to be heard from and 399 delegates-at-large not yet registered.

FIFTY-NINE FROM B.C.

Those registered today were distributed as follows: Yukon, 7; British Columbia, 59; Alberta, 41; Saskatchewan, 63; Manitoba, 77; Ontario, 419; Quebec, 238; New Brunswick, 50; Nova Scotia, 53; Prince Edward Island, 26; at large, 5.

Resolutions which, if adopted, will be written into the party platform will occupy the convention tomorrow, and in the evening the nomination of candidates for leadership will provide the delegates with a feast of oratory.

"Have we come to the hour in this country when Canada locks the gate on Britain when Britain asks to train her own subjects here for her own purposes?" Mr. Meighen asked, commenting on Prime Minister Mackenzie King's recent declaration the Government would not consent to the establishment of British flying schools in Canada.

"If we call ourselves partners in this commonwealth, let us behave as partners behave when they have a common purpose and when they know that purpose is right."

STRONG DECLARATION

For two reasons, Mr. Meighen pleaded for a strong declaration from the convention, and later from Canadian people as a whole, in favor of co-operation in the defence of the Empire. One was that it was the best way of securing the safety of Canadian homes and institutions of government. The other was a personal one, that he and his fathers had lived till now "within the British shield" and wished to continue so.

The second reason might not appeal to all Canadians, but there could be no question about the universal appeal of the first. It was not a view which was shared by Conservatives only. It was shared by Liberals as well, and any responsible Liberal would admit Canada must depend on the Empire for safety.

"The independent, separate defence of Canada is an idle dream," declared the former Prime Minister.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, had told Parliament Canada's only defence against hostile attack on the Atlantic was the British fleet and on the Pacific reliance had to be placed on friendly fleets, presumably that of the United States.

Was it not infinitely better, however, to co-operate with a strong British Empire than wait until perhaps that Empire had fallen and then seek to co-operate with the United States? The British Empire was the first line of defence of the United States as well as Canada.

New international alignments were taking place in the world. The spirit which glorified might and even the horrors and devastations of war was again rising in certain countries. Against it Great Britain, in collaboration with France, was exercising patience and restraint.

The other keynote speaker was Sir Thomas White, war-time Minister of Finance, who dealt with national policies of a general character, but on the defence question expressed views similar to Mr. Meighen's that membership in the Empire carried with it responsibilities as well as privileges.

"The Overseas Dominions," he said, "cannot either in justice or in honor, suffer the whole burden of the defence of the Empire, including themselves, to fall upon Britain.

"Prepared British Empire is the surest safeguard against world war, and even apparent reluctance on the part of any of its membership to co-operate in the work of preparation will only serve to encourage aggressor nations, and still further jeopardize the great cause of world peace."

CHOOSING A LEADER

Conservatives should not expect their new leader to be "a paragon of all excellence," Sir Thomas White said.

"Grant him the concession of some slight imperfection or infirmity of temperament or disposition, identifying him with our common humanity," Sir Thomas said. "Permit him to be 'a creature not too bright and good for human Nature's daily food.'

"What the public expect and have a right to expect in a political leader in office is capability, integrity of character and fidelity to the principles of the platform upon which he is elected.

"But for successful leadership he must be dynamic and be supported not only by able colleagues, but by a Dominion-wide organization in continuous activity."

Mr. Bennett, who opened the convention, received a tremendous ovation as he rose to speak. Delegates broke into cheers for nearly a minute after he had spoken—"ladies and gentlemen"—and he was forced to halt while his followers rose to their feet and continued their cheers for the chieftain who had led the party eleven years.

Mr. Bennett said he had wished to retire in 1937, but it had been impracticable to hold a convention in that year, and he had reluctantly agreed to continue as party leader for another year.

LEADS IN PRAYER

After making a formal announcement that the convention had been properly called, the leader led the convention in the Lord's Prayer, after which Senator Charles Bourgeois of Three Rivers, Que., repeated the prayer in French, with French-Canadian delegates.

Mayor Stanley Lewis, a Liberal, extended a welcome to the city and said he now knew "how Daniel felt in the lion's den." He handed Mr. Bennett a key, symbolical of the freedom of the city.

Dr. Raymond Moran, of Windsor, a former Conservative minister and member for Essex East in the last Parliament, greeted the delegates on behalf of Ontario, the province chosen for the convention. Dr. Moran spoke in French.

Mrs. George Cockshutt, of Brantford, gave a similar welcome on the part of the women of Ontario to the women from other parts of the Dominion who were delegates to the convention.

SPEAKS FOR WEST

F. W. Turnbull, member of Parliament for Regina during the Bennett regime of 1930-35, said it was a matter of satisfaction "after our recent experience in Saskatchewan" to see the Conservative party had so many friends through the Dominion.

Mrs. Fred Burden, of Vancouver, spoke for the women delegates in appreciation of the welcome extended on behalf of the women of Ontario and Ottawa, and Mrs. F. X. A. Gerouz, of Quebec, made a similar acknowledgement in French.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, former member for York, Sudbury, and Minister of Trade and Commerce for a brief time in the Bennett Government, followed. "I want to strike a note of harmony in this convention, in this party, and above all," he said, "harmony in Canada."

Never was there such disunity as today, Mr. Hanson said. "Let it be the duty of Conservatives to preach and practice harmony in Canada."

Former Alberni Postmistress Is Taken by Death

At St. Joseph's Hospital here yesterday there passed away at the age of seventy-eight years, Mrs. Agnes Erickson, 354 Linden Avenue. Born in Argyleshire, Scotland, Mrs. Erickson has been a resident in Canada for the past fifty-six years, pioneering in the Alberni district, where she was postmistress for twenty-three years before coming to Victoria fifteen years ago.

She is survived by one son, William Erickson, of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted in Sands Mortuary Chapel on Friday at 3 o'clock. Rev. Peter McNabb will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Gorge Pollution Is Debated at Length At Council Meeting

Mayor Andrew McGavin Charges That Provincial Government Sidetracks Issue—Report From Deputy Attorney-General Is Received

POLLUTION of the Gorge waters was debated at length by the City Council last night. A letter on the subject from Dr. H. E. Young, provincial health officer, and a copy of a report to Dr. Young from Col. Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general, were referred to the public works committee for a report.

Mayor Andrew McGavin wanted to know why the Provincial Health Department did not take steps to abate the septic tank nuisance in Saanich. He stated the department had given no indication of any course of action, and was again side-racking the issue.

Both Aldermen John A. Worthington and Edward Williams believed the pollution of Gorge waters was a matter for the Provincial Government to rectify.

Alderman Williams moved, but later rescinded a motion to the effect that the city was willing to do its share if the Government would co-operate.

Alderman Alex Peden pointed out there was no trouble at the Gorge until the district was built up by Saanich residents. He, too, believed the Government was seeking an excuse to avoid dealing with the situation.

URGES SURVEY

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar urged a thorough survey of the situation.

Dr. Richard Felton, city medical officer, thought it possible that sewage might be contained in the surface drain off Government Street, as mentioned in Colonel Pepler's report. He believed it would prove an expensive undertaking to ascertain if drainage from the city contributed to pollution of the Gorge waters.

Debate concluded when Alderman Williams moved that the pollution matter be taken up by the public works committee.

Dr. Young's letter to the council stated:

"The question of the responsibility as to where the onus lies is a matter that should be considered and settled."

He enclosed a copy of a report made to him by Colonel Eric Pepler, deputy attorney-general, in which the latter stated in part:

"Dealing with the situation in Saanich, the trouble arises from the overflow from septic tanks flowing through open drains or ditches on to city property. In my opinion it is dangerous to public health to have these open ditches or drains in such a state. I think they constitute a public nuisance.

"I would recommend that you request Saanich to take such steps as are necessary to eliminate this nuisance by covering up the drains where they exist within the municipality.

NEED PURIFICATION

"Dr. Cull also suggests that Saanich be requested to instal filter beds in connection with offensive spots to purify the sewage, and in this I concur.

"The places I refer to are on Burnside Road, at the junction of the city and municipality.

"At the junction of Alpha Street, off Burnside Road, where the railway tracks cross Alpha Street.

"Tolmie Avenue at Maple Avenue.

"At the Gorge bathing beach on both sides of the Island Highway.

"We were shown an open sewer emptying into the harbor on the west side of Government Street. The city should be asked to remedy this situation.

"Regarding the use of the Gorge bathing beach, I think the city should erect a sign warning bathers that swimming in this location is considered unhealthy.

"The Inner Harbor is not a fit place for a public bathing beach.

"It seems to me the time is not far distant when that portion of Saanich immediately bordering upon the city will be required to have a sewage system, or connect with city sewers.

NO PRESSING NEED

"As regards the remainder of Saanich, there does not seem to be any necessity for a sewer system being installed for some years to come.

"I might suggest that the possibility of forming a metropolitan sewage and water district be considered to include Victoria and the three adjoining municipalities," Colonel Pepler's report concluded.

A suggestion from the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce that metal receptacles for waste material be placed at street corners, and that a survey of light standards be made with a view to repainting, was referred to the public works committee for a report.

Fire wardens were asked to report on a plea from the Moving Picture Operators' Association that the council endorse a protest against a proposal to replace a number of qualified projectionists in theatres with apprentices.

The lands committee was asked to deal with a suggestion from the School Board that six lots at the southwest corner of Michigan and Government Streets be set aside as a future playground for South Park School.

OFFER DECLINED

In a letter to the council, D. W. Burnett offered to steam clean the granite portion of the Causeway. Mayor McGavin thought the Provincial Government would be willing to pay half the cost. The communication was ordered received and filed, and the information conveyed to Mr. Burnett that no funds were available for the work.

Authority was given the parks committee to erect two softball backstops at Central Park at a total cost of $208. The committee was also given permission to remove an old maple tree opposite 869 Humboldt Street, and to trim two others.

Power was given the city engineer to remove the former Show Boat seats on the grassy slope below Belleville Street. The embankment will then be seeded.

At a suggestion of the market commissioner, the city engineer's department was instructed to repair the public market roof on a day labor basis.

MOTIONS PASSED

Motions passed by the council included extension of the no-parking strip in front of the Publicity Bureau entrance on Government Street; the placing of advertisements calling for tenders to print and bind the annual voters' list; appointment of Ismay, Boiston & Holden, auditors of School Board accounts for 1938, and the demolition of an old house in the 1800 Block on Cook Street, and another in the 1100 Block on North Park Street.

On recommendation of the lands committee, an offer of a taxpayer to exchange a lot on the west side of Birch Street, between Begbie and Fort Streets, for a city-owned lot on the south side of McClure Street, between Vancouver and Cook Streets, was accepted. The applicant also agreed to pay the lands committee $50 and take care of transfer costs. He stated that he intended to erect a $4,000 duplex dwelling on the McClure Street property.

Chinese Parents Seek Duncan Boy Missing Two Days

THE services of the Provincial Police were drawn upon yesterday in a hunt for Sammy Lum, ten-year-old son of Chinese parents, missing from his home at Duncan since 8:30 p.m. Monday. It is believed that the boy wandered into the bush near Duncan, picking berries, and either became lost or else was picked up by a motorist and driven on in error to some other town. Sammy Lum was wearing an Indian woven sweater, blue overall trousers, brown running shoes, and was bareheaded. Information from anyone having sighted the lad would be appreciated by the Provincial Police.

ASKED MILLION FOR A DIVORCE

Woolworth Heiress' Second Husband Charged in Bow Street Police Court

LONDON, July 5 (AP).—Counsel for Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the Woolworth heiress, today pictured her second husband as an enraged, tearful nobleman, who demanded £1,000,000 ($5,000,000) as his price for facilitating a divorce, and threatened to shoot "like a dog" an unnamed London society man.

As the count appeared in Bow Street police court on a charge of threatening his wife with bodily harm, counsel for the former Barbara Hutton accused the count of:

Threatening to duel and then to shoot "the gentleman in London"—a guarded phrase counsel for both sides agreed upon;

Calling his wife obscene names;

HELL WITH HEADLINES

Threatening her with "three years of hell with headlines"; threatening to seize his son;

Threatening to "shoot himself and others," thereby putting the countess "on the spot" and saying "everyone would know Barbara had driven him to it";

Engaging in "talk about blackmail," and causing his wife to become "terrified of him."

Counsel for the countess declared not only did her husband demand £1,000,000 and laugh at a proffered £50,000 gift as an insult, but also asked custody of their two-year-old son, Lance, as terms for a divorce.

After 150 minutes of testimony, the count was freed under £2,000 bail until July 13, when the hearing will be resumed.

GATHERING FORCES

Japanese commanders gathered their forces for an intensified drive toward Hankow, China's provincial capital 150 miles up the Yangtze River.

Naval commanders announced a squadron of warships reached Hukow, following a major breaching of the Matowchen rock and timber booms, twenty-five miles down river, where Chinese shore batteries and machine gun units made a prolonged stand before admitting withdrawal of their major forces, June 30.

Describing the action about Hukow, a Japanese military communique today said 1,000 Chinese soldiers attempting to escape into Poyang Lake in junks were slaughtered.

Fifteen miles up river from Hukow, Chinese were said to be strewing mines above Kiukiang, where they have erected another series of booms, and to have mobilized high speed torpedo boats for action against the warships.

Wright's automobile on June 30; breaking, entering and committing theft in the shop of Orville Bond at 937 Yates Street on June 29, and breaking, entering and committing theft in the shop of F. Williams at 1501 Belmont Avenue on June 28.

Carlow and McMillan entered no plea in answer to the charges, and were remanded until tomorrow for trial.

SMASH SHOP OPEN

Police records show that entry was gained to Mr Bond's shop by cutting through a screen door and breaking the glass in a rear entrance. Those who gained entry stole $15 worth of cigarettes and a small amount of cash. They smashed an amusement machine and carried away part of a candy vending machine, later found in a vacant lot on Douglas Street.

Mr. Williams' grocery shop was entered through a ventilating window. The loot consisted of $80 worth of tobacco and cigarettes and $100 worth of groceries. A large box of assorted groceries was left on the sidewalk by thieves who were frightened away by the shouts of a resident. Three men were seen hurriedly leaving the spot in an automobile.

Ronald Reed, alleged by police to have been implicated with Carlow and McMillan in the grocery store theft, was formally charged with unlawfully breaking, entering and committing theft therein, when he appeared in the city police court yesterday. He was remanded until this morning without plea.

Weather Pleases Alberta Farmers

EDMONTON, July 5 (CP).—Clear skies and warmer temperatures today brought an end to the three-day rain which drenched Alberta and Saskatchewan croplands with additional inches of moisture and raised grain estimates.

Through Alberta, farmers were exultant over the rain and expressed belief several weeks of bright sunshine and moderate readings would make a big crop almost certain.

WILL APPEAL AGAIN

VANCOUVER, July 5 (CP).—Vincent Macchione, thirty-six-year-old Sicilian thrice convicted of murder, today dispatched notice of appeal to Victoria from his cell in Oakalla Jail.

A DO-NOTHING POLICY

Another session of the Federal Parliament is at an end, and nothing has been done about the railway problem, which continues to act as a definite check on the return to prosperity. There have been no discussions of the matter in the House of Commons; no mention made of it in the Speech from the Throne; the Budget ignored it entirely. It remains, however, first among Canada's problems because of the fact that since national ownership was established the new debt that the Canadian people have had to shoulder now reaches the enormous sum of $1,250,000,000. All this money is an interest-bearing debt, and the gravity of the situation is that matters show little or no sign of improvement. During the first five months of the current year the Canadian National Railways failed to earn operating expenses. It would appear as a possibility that the deficits of that railway this year, unless business conditions show improvement, will be $100,000,000, or at the rate of $2,000,000 a week. A Government which permits this condition to continue when the remedy is so simple is burking a responsibility that it owes to the taxpayers.

Canada's transportation structure is equal to the needs of twice the population of the Dominion. It should be shaved down to meet the requirements of the population it serves, and only expanded in relation to economic necessity. That will never be done until there is unification of control of the two transcontinental railway systems and non-political management. The losses now being sustained through duplication of transportation facilities, through too ornate services, through an unnecessary multiplication of personnel, are ruinous. While Mr. Mackenzie King and his Ministers remain apparently blind to the gravity of the situation, the railway debt goes on mounting—$40,000,000 was added to it during the last session of Parliament. The official outlook is irrational, because it is not an outlook at all but a Micawberesque attitude—waiting for something to turn up. While the Government waits, the taxpayers go deeper and deeper into the financial mire.

TAXES

It is said that the best things in life are free, but that statement has become somewhat of a gross exaggeration in these latter days. There are not many things left on which Governments have not imposed taxation, and there are few, if any, things that they have left uncanvassed in their desire to extract what they may from human pockets. There is a euphemistic belief sought to be generated to the effect that by indirect taxation things are taxed and not people. It is always the people who pay because inanimate objects are incapable of paying. It is always the individual who feels the burden, who is weighed down by it, who feels his energy and initiative stifled because he lives under the constant fear of new imposts that will hamper his efforts towards development. The burden has become far greater than any benefits that ensue, and what that burden is, how complicated and far reaching, is dwelt upon by Mr. Sidney Smith, who is writing specifically of England, but the application of what he says is widespread. Here is his summing up:

"Taxes upon every article which enters the mouth, or covers the back, or is placed under the feet; taxes upon everything which it is pleasant to see, hear, feel, smell or taste; taxes upon warmth, light and locomotion; taxes upon everything on earth, and in the waters under the earth; taxes on everything that comes from abroad, or is grown at home; taxes on the raw material, and upon every fresh value that is added to it by the industry of man; taxes on the sauce that pampers man's appetite, and the drug that restores him to health; on the ermine which decorates the judge, and the rope which hangs the criminal; on the poor man's salt and the rich man's spice; on the brass nails of the coffin, and the ribbons of the bride. Taxes we never escape; at bed or board, couchant or levant, we must pay. The schoolboy whips his taxed top; the beardless youth manages his taxed horse, with a taxed bridle, upon a taxed road, and the dying Englishman, pouring his medicine which has paid 7 per cent, into a spoon which has paid 15 per cent, flings back upon his chintz bed which has paid 22 per cent, making his will on an eight-pound stamp, and expires in the arms of an apothecary who has paid a licence of a hundred pounds for the privilege of putting him to death. His whole property is immediately taxed 2 to 10 per cent. Besides the probate, large fees are demanded for burying him in the chancel; his virtues are handed down to posterity on taxed marble; and then he is gathered to his fathers—to be taxed no more."

AUTHORSHIP

Canadian authorship, says The Manitoba Free Press, "has a number of initial handicaps." It regards one of these as being the small population there is in the country, and also adverts to the fact that, whereas there are 16,000 books printed in English yearly, only 300 of these come from Canadian authors. These reasons for lack of greater fame than is enjoyed do not seem logical. Successful authorship is largely a matter of being able to put in writing what will interest a large number of people, and the skill in this particular is not indigenous to any particular climate or soil. Success, too, is due to the ability of observation, the power over words, and, in the case of novels, the facility in evolving a plot. For every successful author there must be hundreds who fall by the wayside, and yet a writer seldom believes he is himself to blame because what he writes does not achieve fame. He blames either a cold-hearted publishing house or an unappreciative public, rarely himself. This fact is alluded to by Mr. Somerset Maughan in "The Summing Up," when he says:

"Just as the painter will not get commissions unless on the whole he satisfies his patrons, so the writer's books will not be read unless on the whole they interest his readers. Yet there is in writers a feeling that the public ought to like what they write, and if their books do not sell the fault is not with them, but with the public. I have never yet met an author who admitted that people did not buy his book because it was dull."

INADEQUATE EQUIPMENT

Mr. Ian Mackenzie, the Minister of National Defence, says: "Every soldier must have a thorough knowledge of his weapons and their use—he must be practised so that he will instinctively use his weapons to the best advantage." This is a truism, but does the possibility of it apply all round to the permanent and militia forces of the Dominion? It might if the necessary, up-to-date equipment was in possession of these forces, but without it the desirable training is not possible. Canada is but sparsely supplied with light and heavy tanks, with armored cars, with mobile machine-guns, with searchlights, with modern quick-firing artillery, and with much other material which is regarded as essential in the latter-day impedimenta of war. It is the duty of the Minister of Defence to see that all this equipment is available; otherwise, it is impossible for every soldier "to have a thorough knowledge of his weapons and their use."

The militia units especially are not well equipped. They lack much that is desirable to their thorough training, particularly in a highly-mechanized military age. The militiamen are ardent enough; they take their training seriously, but they are handicapped through being inadequately supplied with modern equipment. It should be a first duty of the Department of National Defence to see that such needs are supplied.

A writer in The Atlantic Monthly says: "The new internationalism must establish a symbiosis among nations, and not a phagocytosis." The trouble is that the average man, who makes for either nationalism or internationalism, will not understand what he is to do about it.

M. Andre Maurois says that "At nearly every point the forces of civilization seem to be sounding a retreat." On the other hand, General Smuts says that "humanity has struck its tent and is on the march," and it seems impossible to have it both ways.

The keystone of British foreign policy was enunciated by Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, when he said: "If we are to induce reason in others we must be reasonable ourselves."

"NOT LANCELOT, NOR ANOTHER"

Within the woods at Camelot, they say,
The little leaves sigh softly all day long,
Remembering glories of a bygone day,
And weaving knightly names into their song.

What word remains of that high chivalry?
Say, is it Lancelot or Percivale?
Gawain or Bors? Or happily there may be
Some word of Galahad and Holy Grail?

Walk in the woods at Camelot; listen long;
And "Arthur, Arthur," on the breeze is blown,
And "Arthur, Arthur," is the streamlet's song.
The King is here remembered,—he alone.

My very spirit listened; and I heard
The leaves that whisper and the birds that sing;
And "Arthur, Arthur, Arthur," is their word—
Their only memory, the blameless King.

—Emma McCall.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Some men were born tired. Others were born eager. A few arrived in this world in a neutral state, tired or active by turns, and so, impulsive. This is to speak of that nebulous, infangible, invisible quantity of life; that which distinguishes a living being from a statue, or from a mechanical contrivance having all the movement but none of the viability, a robot. Set aside for the moment the luggage of inheritance, that which might predispose an individual to be this or that kind of man, or to follow one calling rather than another. Consider merely the gift of life itself. Observation suggests that the initial gift of life varies greatly. In the same family, as a friend remarked wisely in conversation the other day, there may be three sons, and all of them different. One may be dynamic, alert, aggressive, eager, or any other qualification suggesting extreme viability. Such a man does not walk through life; he rushes. Things do not happen to him; he makes them happen to others. There is apt to be in him a restless, superabundant flow of energy which must find expression in action; and that action will be sustained, continuous, and often violent. These are the life-plus creatures. You see them at the age of two pushing their own high-chairs to the dinner table. At twenty-one they will be at the top of some athletic or other ladder, or else in hospital with a broken head. At fifty they are undertaking ten men's work, doing it better than ten single men would attempt. Let fate knock them down, and they are up again, with twice the determination of before. Life came to them with an undefinable plussage which eludes precise definition. Only in the results can you measure the degree of living such men have put into their lives; and not always there, because results sometimes cancel themselves, or are obliterated.

In the same family there may be another son, with an ordinary bundle of viability. Surprisingly, he is more difficult to picture, because he is so like the average, ordinary individual. You will see in him a balanced swing between the dictates of the head and those of the heart. His life will find expression in work and in play, in labor and in recreation, in action and in reflection. He is apt to walk, rather than to rush at life. I regret having mentioned the head or the heart, because I am trying to consider the gift of life without its resultant leanings; its quantity, not quality. In sheer physical and mental energy, this man will be no match for the life-plus individual. He will be acting, and acted upon; but there will be in him no flow of superabundant energy. He will be apt to let sleeping dogs lie. He will group his objectives, and try to settle them in one manoeuvre, rather than in ten. He will husband his energy, and try to avoid a waste effort. He will go through life with a spare tire and all accessories beside him. He will dare in company with others; but may not wish to dare alone. He may be successful, being given less to impulse and more to planning; but he will fall short of the sustained personal effort by which the life-plus individual attains the seemingly impossible. He will take longer to recover from blows when knocked down by fate; and may at times require prodding. In other words, he will be an average human individual; one that may be both encouraged and discouraged; whose life, in part, will be shaped by circumstances, and who will help to shape the circumstances, as and when he can.

The third mythical son gives me more concern. Life, let us suppose, came to him in a smaller initial quantity; a fact not to be detected from his six-foot frame and ample girth. He is the life-minus individual. I will not call him a dreamer, because even to dream requires mental energy, and the life-minus individual has a deficiency of all energy, physical and mental. His impulses die out fast. His actions taper off in incompletion. His very thoughts are not pressed to any conclusion. You will say of such a one that he is almost alive, but not quite. He and others like him, form part of the circumstances upon which others will act. In appearance, in manner, and in bearing, he will be tired perpetually. It is more than laziness, and that is not the correct word for it. It is deeper than indifference or sloth. It is a deficiency of life's initial bundle. Some of the initial energies were left out; almost as if the life-minus individual entered the world backwards, and under the conviction that he should have been headed some other way, perhaps to some other planet. Fate treats the life-minus individual harshly; and he reacts by building up an outer covering through which normal impressions fail to penetrate. Again I am on dangerous ground; wishing to consider only the quantity of life rather than its quality or what use we make of it. Here, in the case of the third son, there is less life, and therefore less movement of any kind whatsoever.

It might be argued, and perhaps truly, that no single individual could be as completely one-sided as the foregoing might suggest; that dynamic, average and negative forces are found in all life, sometimes intermingled. To say so, however, one must go on to the wider ground of inherited tendencies, training, opportunities and circumstances, which have nothing to do with the initial bundle of viability handed to each of us at birth. I believe that there are life-plus, average and life-minus individuals; and that very often the largest share of life is crowded into quite the smallest frames.

"ANGLESEY"

Sir,—My attention has been drawn to a recent letter from Mr. D. S. Morrison, in which he asserts that the Irish Sea was once called the Sea of the Angels. "In it," he says, "there is an island called Angiesea Island."

There is no such place as "Anglesea Island." Possibly he is referring to Angiesey? The suffix "ey" is the old Anglo-Saxon word for island, thus there is no need for the word "island" before or after the name Anglesey, which means as it stands "the Angles' island."

Note the same suffix in the islands Bardsey, Walney, Sheppey, Canvey, etc. H. GLYNN-WARD.

Treanna, Sidney, B.C., July 1, 1938.

SINGLE UNEMPLOYED

Sir,—I have been reading letters in your paper re the unemployed. I have every sympathy with the same men. I also know that governments are not being charitable enough, not only to the unemployed but to those because of their age are told they are to old at fifty up, and even younger.

But the situation today has two sides to the question. The Premier of British Columbia has the people of British Columbia to consider, that is, the taxpayers, and any effort undertaken in any province to find work for the unemployed will need plenty of money and mean borrowing the same. Why then should the British Columbia taxpayer have to pay increased taxes for men who lived in other provinces the other part of their life. To say that it was all right for men to go to the prairies during harvesting simply means that it did not cost those provinces anything, but helped them. This problem does mean a cost to the province.

Is it fair to spend the money collected to bring hundreds to Victoria when most of it was given to provide food for them? F. J. BRADLEY.

VANCOUVER, July 5 (C.P.).—Bralorne Mines, Limited, in June produced bullion valued at $299,600, compared with $298,200 in May and $238,655 in the corresponding month a year ago. Mill tonnage during the month totaled 15,055 tons, averaging $19.90 per ton.

Output in the first six months of 1938 was $1,753,500, compared with $1,345,853 a year ago.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the new Esquimalt drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of July 6, 1888)

The Columbian says: The Coquitlam Water Works Company is now calling for tenders to clear the pipe line to Coquitlam Lake. As soon as the tenders are in and accepted work will be vigorously prosecuted and carried through to completion with as little interruption as possible. The company is in a position, financially, to bring the work to a successful finish, and hopes to be supplying New Westminster with good and pure water by the middle of August next, year.

It is reported from Port Townsend that a general strike of coasting sailors has been called by the Coast Seamen's Union. The trouble is owing to the reduction of wages by the ship owners' association from $40 to $35 a month. The strike will occur when the reduction goes into effect, which will be within a day or two.

Mr. J. H. Todd recently had constructed at Colvin's shipyard, Rock Bay, a steamer to run in connection with his cannery on the Fraser River. She was completed yesterday and a trial trip was made when everything was found to be working satisfactorily. The vessel is forty-eight feet long, twelve feet beam, and four feet deep.

ALTER MODES OF TREATMENT

Former Saanich Resident Tells of Methods of Handling Homeless Children

In the last ten or twelve years, there has been a wonderful change in the method of dealing with homeless boys and girls in Canada, England and the United States, said Bert Beaumont, in an address yesterday before the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel.

There is now a decided move in the direction of closing institutions that were utilized as homes for the unfortunately situated youths, and homes are being found for them in a real sense. The next ten years, he expects, will be marked by still greater changes in this regard.

Mr. Beaumont is director of children's welfare in Hamilton, Ont., where he has had opportunity for studying the situation. He is a native of Saanich, who left for the East some years ago to engage in this work, and in this connection he has had a wide experience in Eastern Canada.

MUST INVESTIGATE

In the finding of homes for these children, the speaker pointed out that before adoptions took place it was necessary to have very full investigations made on both sides so that there might be reciprocal adapability. The homes into which the children were taken should be studied very fully so that no mistake would be made in the placing of the youths. He felt that, in the long run, it was wise to have the children who were adopted made aware early of the fact of their being adopted so that there might be no embarrassment later.

Dealing with the question of delinquent children, Mr. Beaumont advised early action in investigating the cases. The homes from which came the children who fell into trouble should be investigated thoroughly also, as the cause might be traced there. He admonished the citizens to get behind the police magistrate in the Big Brother movement.

On motion of Percy Waters, a vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker for his informative address.

Much Too Much

If the night man at a downtown Victoria hotel felt at all inclined to write a play on the happenings in his hostelry early yesterday morning, we would like to suggest that he title it "The Cruelest Cut of All." The sad tale runs somewhat as follows: After scrimping to meet expenses for a trip down-Island to play Victoria teams, members of two visiting lacrosse teams arrived in the city only to receive a sound thrashing by the local contingents. Bleak-hearted and dispirited they left the playing fields to seek quarters for the night—only to find that their pooled capital totaled six dollars. Finally they rented a single room, and in the still small hours started to file into the hotel past the night man. After the eighteenth player had tip-toed up the stairs, the night man investigated to find a mountain of lacrosse sticks, pads and recumbent bodies piled knee-deep in the one small room. When last seen, the straggling band was trooping dejectedly down Fort Street in single file—with seven hours until train time. J.A.M.

Improvements Needed

Owen recently paid his annual visit to Beacon Hill Park, armed with a camera, four chocolate bars and a bag of peanuts. He reported the swings badly in need of paint. He also found the Chinese bell, cannon, torpedo and crinkled bit of ship's hull still without inscriptions for the benefit of tourists and others . . . The annual report of the fire marshal shows a loss of property valued at $2,144,078 in 3,009 fires in the province last year. The principal causes of fire were carelessly placed stove ashes, clothes placed too near stove pipes, defective chimneys, electrical appliances misused or defective, carelessness with gasoline, incendiarism, children playing with matches, short circuits, smokers' carelessness, chimney sparks, fireplace sparks and insufficiently protected stove pipes . . . Aubrey, who is planning to spend his two-day Summer holiday at Matsqui, sagely informed us that those who rob Peter to pay Paul generally forget to settle with the same Paul.—G.B.

Advice Now as Then

A notable housewife of the Victorian Age has this advice for the younger generation — On Marriage: Never marry a man who does not eat a good breakfast. On Entertaining: Make sure that the wine is good and the coffee hot and then turn your attention to the food. On Clothes: Remember a model is a model, but a copy is not a copy. On Wives: A wise wife will never try to stop her husband spending money on her. On Carpets: Only the rich can afford poor carpets. On Letting Your House: Never let your house to a divorced couple; if they have been careless over their marriage they will be careless over your furniture.—L.A.G.

Glancing Over Sport

The experts are picking either Ralph Guldahl, Sammy Snead or Henry Picard to win the Professional Golfers' Association tournament, the toughest of them all, which gets under way next week. They have forgotten to mention one of the best match players in the business, Denny Shute . . . Hank Cleman, of Toronto, didn't win the U.S.A.A.U. 3,000-metre walking title in record time at Buffalo last week without stirring the old controversy about the legitimacy of his form. Hank's heels and toes pound along so fast he appears to lope. During the event he was cautioned no less than six times by officials . . . The American League all-stars will win today's clash with the National Baseball League squad by a fairly comfortable margin. The Cincinnati ball park will hold about 30,000 fans and more than 100,000 want to see today's annual battle . . . Victorians who competed in the recent British Columbia amateur golf championship in Vancouver returned to the city with bitter complaints about the way the tournament was run. They said several Mainland golfers had their handicaps lowered so they could get in the championship division. If that's the case, the provincial bosses had better go back to the old rules, thirty-six holes of qualifying and then match play.—J.D.

YOUNG LAWYERS APPEAR AT BAR

Eleven Law School Graduates Presented to Supreme Court Chief Justice Here

Eleven law students appeared before Chief Justice Aulay Morrison for call or admission to legal ranks at the Courthouse here Monday. They were presented by H. G. Lawson, K.C.

The Chief Justice recalled the oath taken by the Athenian youth in the days of Athens' classical leadership. He thought the oath might well be printed and hung in legal buildings, city halls and legislatures throughout the nation as a reminder of a great tradition.

Those called and admitted were Arthur Leslie Robinson, Robert David Jordan Guy, David Vaughen Pugh, David Arthur Lesser, Donald James McKinlay, Elizabeth Wilson Grant, Miller Hamilton Mason and William Henry Smillie.

Frederick Anderson Sheppard, a solicitor, formerly of Saskatchewan, was called. Florence Katherine Frost and Cecil Hawson Butler Frere were admitted.

A NEW ONE

Jones came back from his fortnight's holiday proud of his bulging muscles.

"Look at these arms," he said.

They were certainly in good condition. His colleagues put it down to rowing, but Jones withered them with scorn.

"Rowing!" he snorted. "I got them pulling fish up."

Girl of 19 Accused of Bad Complexion

(Before Mr. Justice Kruschen)

JUDGE: Jane Smith, you have had a fair trial and you have been found guilty of the charge made against you.

PRISONER: Y-y-yes, my lord.

JUDGE: Very well, then. Your crime may not have been deliberate, but it was one of serious neglect. You admit that though you do not get enough time for adequate open-air exercise you have never troubled to take steps to prevent constipation. Your complexion inevitably suffered.

COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENCE: My lord, I protest that there are other causes.

JUDGE: I said that constipation inevitably causes bad complexions, your client admits to the cause and plainly suffers from the effect.

PRISONER: It isn't my fault, my lord. I couldn't help it.

JUDGE: You could help it and you shall help it. This is the first time a charge has been made against you; let it be a lesson to you that young women may not neglect and spoil the good looks that Nature gave them. Your duty to your parents, to your friends, to your future husband is to make the most you possibly can of yourself.

(Here the prisoner covered her face with her handkerchief and was handed a glass of water.)

JUDGE: (continuing): You will be placed on probation for 3 months and I order that you drink one cup of coffee or tea, or a glass of water at breakfast every morning—

PRISONER: But I always do!

JUDGE (sternly): Don't interrupt! One cup of coffee or tea or a glass of water every morning into which you shall put as much Kruschen Salts as will lie on a 10c piece. You will get rid of constipation and when you do you will never find yourself in your present predicament again.

After consultation with counsel, the judge announced that costs to the extent of less than 1c a day should be borne by the defence. "I believe I am right in saying," said his lordship, "that a 75c bottle of Kruschen contains 96 doses. That is much less than 1c a day."

The prisoner left the court smiling.

relieve constipation and rheumatism

Kruschen is a combination of several mineral salts which your body must get, in some way, to keep the blood pure, the inside clean, and the system generally toned up, but which you can't get in Nature's own way without abundant exercise and fresh air. You should have those salts every day; hence the importance of the "little daily dose". Every drug counter sells Kruschen in 25c, 45c and 75c bottles. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Development Work in Zeballos Gold Field Progressing Rapidly

Machinery for New Mill Being Moved Into Privateer Mine—Results of Operations at Rimy Group of Man-o'-War Encouraging

OFFICIALS of Privateer Mine, including the company's manager, the secretary, and G. F. MacDonnell, the consulting engineer, have been together at the mine recently on an inspection trip.

The Privateer Mine has always been a most interesting operation, but never more interesting than at the present time, when work is being pushed upon the construction of a mill to handle the mine ores, and at the same time the mine is being put into physical shape to deliver a minimum of seventy-five tons of ore to the mill every day of the year, states D. S. Tait, secretary.

Excellent progress is being made with the construction work. The new bunkhouse, which will enable the crews to be increased without too much crowding, is rapidly nearing completion, and should be ready for occupation in about a fortnight. At the powerhouse all excavations are completed, the foundations have been poured, and work is about to commence on the beds for the Diesel engines, generators and compressors, which will furnish the additional power needed when the mill is in operation.

MACHINERY ARRIVING

On the mill site all excavations have been completed. Mr. Morrison, the construction superintendent, reports that he has never seen finer foundations, or a better lay-out for a mill than that at the Privateer Mine. The forms are now rapidly being made ready for the concrete, and some of the concrete foundations have already been poured. One full car load of machinery is now at the dock at Zeballos, ready for delivery at the mine, and from various points other machinery is commencing to move forward toward the job.

The scene is one of great animation. All day long and far into the night, trucks whine up the heavy grade to the mine with loads of lumber, gravel, sand, concrete, reinforcing steel, bolts, nails and other supplies.

Fine weather is helping to expedite construction, and the construction crews, from the superintendent down, are looking forward to creating a record in construction.

In the mine also, there is a scene of intense activity. The mine crew has the job of getting the mine in shape to deliver the necessary ore to the mill. Between existing levels of the Privateer Mine, it is estimated that there is already blocked out approximately two and a half years' supply of ore for the mill. However, the mine must be in shape to deliver this in quantities of at least seventy-five tons per day. To do this, they must run a 560-foot crosscut, sink a winze a distance of 175 feet to meet the crosscut to serve as an ore pass for bringing down ore from the upper levels. Then, on the upper levels, the necessary backs must be taken down to open up the stopes from which the seventy-five tons of ore a day can be blasted. Ore passes and chutes must be in position to deliver the ore to the mine cars. Mine trackage must be rearranged, and switches installed to enable the ore cars and trains to move without interruption.

WILL BE READY IN TIME

The mine crew has had the bad breaks so far. The outside construction crew has been blessed with the most beautiful weather and everything has favored the rapid prosecution of their work; but, at the mine, one of the two big Sullivan compressors has been broken down for nearly a fortnight, cutting down the vital supply of compressed air to run the drills. Now, however, both the compressors are again running and ample air is again available, but there is not yet housing accommodation to enable the mine crew to be increased as rapidly as desired. Then again, the crew driving the working tunnel have unexpectedly encountered broken and heavy ground which has required close square timbering, delaying the work very considerably. Nevertheless, the mine crew declare that the mine will be ready to deliver the full quota of ore before the mill is tuned up and ready to handle the tonnage.

Meantime, the engineering staff, entirely impartial, have been completing the sampling and mapping of the ore bodies on all levels with a view to being able to direct a uniform grade of mill feed to the mill when it gets in operation.

The date when regular milling can commence must necessarily depend considerably upon deliveries of machinery from the East, but it is expected to be not later than the first week in October, and possibly September may see the mill turning over.

AT MAN-O-WAR

At Man-O-War the interesting situation has arisen that the No. 2 (Rimy) operation is overshadowing the original No. 1 operation (Van Isle).

The Van Isle vein shows great strength and persistency, and mineralization in the east face heading towards the Privateer Mine is gradually improving. Nevertheless, at the lower tunnel horizon values continue low. In view, however, of the strength of the Van Isle vein and of the proximity of this property to the Privateer Mine, the No. 1 operation is still looked upon as a very promising one.

In the meantime, the No. 2 operation (Rimy) has been steadily impressing itself upon the management as the development to be pushed for quick results.

The No. 3 (Rimy) vein in particular continues to show up very well. The new tunnel on this vein is now well underground, the face being approximately twenty feet from the portal. Samples have been taken at frequent intervals, and they are consistently high grade. A total of nineteen samples have now been taken on the No. 3 vein, and the lowest assay on these samples was 1.16 ounces gold ($40.60) to the ton, while the average of the entire nineteen samples is 4.02 ounces ($140.70) to the ton. The mine sampling is a little under the consulting engineer's samples, which averaged $142.80 to the ton.

WIDE ZONE OF PROMISE

There are several other showings on the Rimy group of considerable promise, particularly one wide zone lying about 1,500 feet south of the No. 2 vein which shows a total width of upwards of eight feet of heavily mineralized material.

G. F. MacDonnell, the consulting engineer, has recommended that the Rimy be made for the present the first string operation, and it is probable that for the time being the bulk of the crew will be transferred to the No. 2 operation with a view of pushing the development of the No. 3 vein there as rapidly as possible.

Ore bins are being prepared at the portal of the tunnel on the No. 3 vein, and high grade ore is being accumulated for future shipment.

AT OTHER PROPERTIES

At Rey-Oro a fifteen-ton mill is under construction and the underground crew is putting up a raise on ore. Heavy machinery is being moved unto the Goldfield property of Spud Valley Mines where a mill is expected to be in operation in the Fall. The Britannia interests have a crew prospecting on ground between the Privateer, Man-O-War and B-X properties. Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company has a party at work on the Royal group, south and east of Spud Valley. Haida has a crew at work on its claims, while Dentonia has men at work on Joe Doyle's claims between the Rimy, Rey-Oro and the White Star groups.

At the White Star property a parcel of ore is being made ready for shipment to the smelter, and the crew is reported to have opened up a new vein on the Don Fraction which is said to be of high grade with visible free gold. The Connell Mining & Exploration Company has men at work on the Farris group in Spud Valley, where a compressor plant has been installed and development is being pushed on two veins. Pioneer Mines is reported to have returned to the Friend group and also is engaged in prospecting on the Peerless group. Eastern interests have a crew busy on the Beano group.

WHEAT FUTURES DIP ONCE MORE

WINNIPEG, July 5 (CP).—Winnipeg wheat futures dipped later today for the second successive day because of rains throughout the Prairie Provinces.

The decline ranged from 2 1-8 to 1 3-8 cents with July at 97 3-8, October 78 3-4, November 78 and December 76 3-8.

Export business in Canadian wheat was confined to a few loads of old crop supplies.

Liverpool fell 1 3-4 to 1 1-8d lower, Buenos Aires was down 1-2 to 1 cent.

Cash wheat demand was erratic and durums neglected. No. 1 Northern moved ahead 1-2 but Nos. 2 and 3 fell a cent.

Coarse grain trade was also low. Rye slumped after early gains, barley dipped lower from the start and little business could be traced in oats or flax.

Stocks Recover Towards Close On Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 5 (AP).—Stocks backed down under more insistent profit selling than usual in today's market, but most recovered substantially from early losses of 1 to around 3 points.

The news, marketwise, was a trifle contradictory, although, on the whole, it was far from dampening spirits of those who have been predicting better things for business and industry over coming months.

The Associated Press average of sixty issues was off .7 of a point at 47.7. Transfers totaled 1,694,840, compared with 2,024,820 last Friday. It was the smallest full day's volume in a week.

Trading forces generally returned from the lengthy holiday in an optimistic frame of mind, but with the idea the market, because of the sharpest quick-turn rally in years—the averages jumped more than 26 per cent from June 20—was due for a correctional reaction. The touching off of "stop-loss" orders just under Saturday's final prices, in addition to some short selling, contributed to the retreat.

Industrial and utility issues took over leadership in the bond market today when rails faltered, and while many speculative carrier lines lost ground, bonds elsewhere ended higher.

Associated Press averages of industrial and utility bonds each rose to new 1938 highs, the former advancing .5 of a point and the latter .1. The foreign bond average was up .2, but the rail average dropped .4.

DOW JONES AVERAGES

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty industrials, 136.52, off 2.01.
Twenty rails, 27.21, off 0.36.
Fifteen utilities, 21.83, off 0.44.
Forty bonds, 87.96, off 0.03.

Volume at 975,000 shares was heaviest since April 22 but turnover was not a measure of the selling sentiment.

Nickel finished a point down, Noranda 1 1-2 off and Hudson Bay lost 1-4. Aldermac, Falconbridge, Pend Oreille, Waite-Amulet and Ventures were down narrowly. Eldorado weakened 5 and other silvers were steady.

Dome dropped a point and O'Brien gained 35 to 4.10 on trade of 15,000 shares.

Abitibi pfd. dropped 1 1-2 and the common closed 3-8 down at 4 1-8. Great Lakes Paper issues finished 1 to 2 down and Consolidated Paper weakened 3-8. Building shares, with exception of building products, were heavy and weakness predominated in the interlisted group bringing small losses to Brazilian, Ford, C.P.R., Distillers-Seagrams, Walkers common and B.A. Oil. Imperial Oil and International Petroleum held steady and strong.

Calgary & Edmonton and Foothills were down and Home a little higher.

Suffer 20-6 Setback in "A" Section Fixture—Lumbermen Beat Clubbers

Cameron Lumber 6, Hollywood Club 4.

Macdonald Electric 3, Saanich Construction 2.

Hammering out twenty-one base knocks, including a circuit drive by Harry Holness, diminutive utility player, and running wild on the bags, Manager Jim Lackie's Victoria Longshoremen had a gala evening yesterday at the Royal Athletic Park, where they trounced Burns & Co., 20-6. It was the third straight setback for the butcher boys and cut into their chances of gaining a post-season play-off berth.

Stevedores brought their heavy artillery into action at the very start of the engagement and punched out seven hits from the southpaw slants of Lloyd Jones, veteran slab artist, and made them good for nine runs before sending him to the showers. Kelly Comerford, husky righthander, followed Jones to the hill and went along nicely for four innings, and then stayed with the task despite considerable punishment.

Ralph Bonner, portsider, did the mound work for the Longshoremen, and while wild at intervals, went along fairly nicely and allowed only six widely scattered safeties. He was scored against for the last time in the fifth frame and then settled down and pitched shutout ball for the four remaining frames.

LUMBERMEN WIN

Cameron Lumber ball tossers practically clinched the coveted top spot when they managed to turn back the Hollywood Club, 6-4, at Victoria West Park. Lumbermen took the lead in the first frame and were never headed. In the first of the eighth the clubbers started a dangerous rally, but their efforts were halted after they pushed across three runs.

Playing smart ball, Macdonald Electric clung to their slim chance of gaining a play-off position by nosing out the Saanich Construction, 3-2, at Sidney. Nunn started on the hillock for the electric men and was yanked in the third after the construction boys had driven over two markers, their only runs of the game. Ray Byers took up the hurling duties where Nunn left off and hurled shutout ball.

Boothe, doing the twirling for Saanich Construction, let the opposition down with three widely scattered bingles, but wobbly support in the outer gardens cost him the keenly contested fixture. His mates pounded out five safeties from the opposing hurlers.

TOP BERTH AT STAKE TONIGHT

Bluebirds and James Bay Stickhandlers Will Clash At Athletic Park

Bluebirds and James Bay, joint occupants of the top berth in the intermediate boxla series, will clash this evening at the Royal Athletic Park, in one of the most important games on the season's schedule. The fixture will get under way at 6:15 o'clock, with Ross and Ditchburn as referees.

Playing in the season's opener, Bluebirds eked out an 11-10 victory over the Bays, but the latter club squared matters when they met a second time by stickhandling their way to a 13-9 triumph. Tonight's encounter will be the "rubber" and the outcome will decide the undisputed leadership in the race for the championship.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Broadly speaking, a no trump response to an opening suit bid announces responder's inability to make any more encouraging or more constructive bid. Nine times in ten it is a warning to the opening bidder that the responder will take no further action unless forced or strongly urged by the opener's next bid. Even this "courtesy" or negative no trump response, however, has a certain range, i.e., it may represent a holding of only one honor trick, but on other occasions may be based on as much as two honor tricks with bad distribution. An expert's handling of the "upper limit" no trump response is shown in the following deal:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ J 6
♥ A K 10 5 4
♦ Q J 3
♣ A 7 4

WEST	EAST
♠ A 9 8 5 2	♠ Q 7 4
♥ 9 7 3	♥ Q 6 2
♦ 10 8 5	♦ K 9 7
♣ K 6	♣ Q 9 3 2

SOUTH
♠ K 10 3
♥ J 8
♦ A 6 4 2
♣ J 10 8 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

Over one heart South could find no response more descriptive of his holding than one no trump. Obviously he had nothing approaching a two no trump response. He could not raise the hearts with only J x, and to bid two diamonds with such an anemic diamond suit, less than two honor tricks in the hand and unfavorable distribution, would be too aggressive. Hence South correctly chose the no trump response, with the mental reservation that if North should rebid, he (South) would bid two no trump, thus clearly announcing that his first response had been an underbid. It can easily be seen how accurately descriptive South's two bids viewed as a sequence were to North. "It was precisely as though South were to say to North: "Over your one heart I couldn't make a stronger bid than one no trump. But my hand is distinctly better than the minimum courtesy no trump response and therefore, since you could rebid your heart suit, I think there should be a play for game. If you have a balanced hand and some added strength, bid game in no trump; if unbalanced, go ahead with your hearts." North, of course, had no trouble deciphering the message and, since his distribution was balanced with some strength in every suit, he naturally chose no trump as the final contract. By finding a good (but not exceptionally good) lay of cards, South had no trouble collecting nine tricks.

West opened his fourth best spade. Dummy ducked, and East's queen went to the king. The heart finesse lost, but South still had a spade stopper in the combined hands and, by means of a successful diamond finesse, took two spades, four hearts, two diamonds, and one club.

The bidding sequence recorded is one that is frequently heard in expert circles. In this connection, however, I had better caution my readers against any sequence such as the following:

North	South
1 heart	1 no trump
2 hearts	3 no trump

South's bidding in this sequence is absurd, although I have heard many inexpert players make the two bids recorded. If South cannot make a more constructive bid than one no trump on the first round, it is inconceivable that he then can jump to three no trump after a mere rebid by his partner. One or the other of his responses, the no trump or the jump three no trump, must be very bad, and such bidding should be scrupulously avoided.

TOMORROW'S HAND

TRIED ANTIDOTE FOR UNEXCITING APPEALS

LONDON, July 5 (CP).—A bearded man wearing a black skull cap listened to the hearing of the Alberta appeals before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today.

He listened intently for a few minutes and then, during a review of the arguments made before the Supreme Court of Canada, brought out a book which he began reading, with his elbows propped against the court railing.

A glance at the book revealed it was a "mystery thriller."

HEBRON, N.D., July 5 (AP).—The engine and five cars of a westbound Northern Pacific passenger train were derailed just west of here last night when torrential rains weakened a section of track.

First reports were that one passenger had been slightly injured, but officials said no reports of injuries had been received at the St. Paul office.

St. Mary's Church Fete Nets Substantial Sum

The gratifying sum of $564 was realized from the annual garden fete held by the Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, yesterday afternoon in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Gibson's home, York Place, Oak Bay. Between 500 and 600 visitors attended the party, including 100 bridge and mah jong players.

The stalls were arranged on the lawn under the trees, and on the croquet lawn below the Summerhouse, a number of contests and amusements were in progress. A putting competition, "Ten Little Nigger Boys" game, etc., provided interest for young and old.

The visitors, among whom were the Bishop of Columbia and Mrs. Sexton, and a large number of out-of-town guests, were welcomed by the guild president, Mrs. C. T. Teasdale, and by Archdeacon Nunns.

Tea was served on the terrace overlooking the garden and the islands off Oak Bay, while bridge and mah jong were in progress in the house. Mrs. Philp was convener of the tea arrangements and assisting in serving were Mesdames Beasley, A. Pillar, Stewart, Butler, Page, MacArthur, Davenport, McKay, Baxter, Harris, and Misses H. Taylor, Hart, Fox, Devereux, Thompson, Lucille Mackay and Taylor. Mrs. E. E. Wootton and Mrs. Scott Ritchie were the bridge conveners.

THE STALLS

The fancywork stall was in charge of Mrs. W. J. Goepel and Mrs. F. E. Blowers; linens, Mrs. H. Cullis and Mrs. Fluck; woollies, Mrs. Sharples, Mrs. Bengough and Mrs. Thomson; home-cooking, Mrs. R. Hughes, Mrs. Herbert Swayne and Mrs. W. Taylor; candy, Mrs. W. G. Sheppard and Miss Pillar; children's wear, Mrs. R. A. Wootton, Mrs. P. R. Wilkinson and Mrs. Herbert Anscomb; clock golf, Miss Marian Pitts and Mrs. Hew Paterson; garden croquet, Miss Freeman; spinning Jenny, Mrs. C. F. Eagles; gate receipts, Mrs. A. D. Crease and Mrs. Boulter; cake contest, won by Mrs. Sharples, Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Thorpe-Doubble, in charge of Mrs. G. P. Player; competitions, Mrs. E. Farquhar, Mrs. Ard, Mrs. F. D. Heseltine and Mrs. C. C. Raven; ice cream, Mr. Cross; "Ten Little Niggers," Mr. G. F. Salmon, Mr. Dick Davenport; tea tickets, Mrs. T. P. Waters; fortunes, Miss Kathleen Roberts; teacup reading, Miss A. B. Cooke.

DOLLS' PARADE

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the parade of decorated dolls' carriages with their little owners. The children made a charming picture as they walked round the lawn pushing their beautifully decorated prams, and it was no easy task for the judges, Lady (Richard) Lake and Mrs. Jutson Fisher, to decide upon the winners. The prizes were given to Annette Cabeidu, first; Diana Parker, second, and Ann Norman, third. Each of the children taking part in the contest was given a balloon. Miss Sheila MacArthur won the cooked dinner, and Miss Bate the bean contest.

During the afternoon the adjoining garden of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong and Mrs. M. F. Driscoll was kindly opened to the guests, the majority of whom spent some time wandering about among the flowers and shrubberies, and all were enchanted with the beauty of the garden. The rose garden, hedged with a fragrant border of lavender, was of special interest.

rived to help the almost exhausted boy.

Scarcely had the reporter commandeered an empty rowboat to help bring the semi-conscious victim back to land, when shrill cries for help from the left of the float attracted his attention.

Venturing too far out along a rocky ledge on the shore line in front of the resort, eleven-year-old "Sonny" Danes, 1217 Johnson Street, slid out over his depth and was sinking below the surface when his uncle, Captain E. Lillie, 1176 Yates, dived to his rescue.

VICTIMS RECOVER

Meanwhile, resort attendants subjected Jack Don to a brisk towelling to restore him to consciousness and, after plying him with hot tea, rushed him to the city, where his condition was reported as "good." The Danes boy responded quickly to first aid treatment and was soon able to walk unassisted. Several hundred picnickers who lined the shore and made no effort to assist the youths were of the general opinion that they were "spoofing."

Although little could be learned of the early morning accidents, it was understood from attendants that a truck driver had leaped into the water fully clothed to rescue two unidentified children who fell into the deep water off the shore float.

FINAL PLAN TO GO TO RIVAL CAMPS

pay a full fifth share of the evacuation expenses, contending the governments of the foreigners fighting in Spain should pay the expense of transporting their own nationals home.

STEP TOWARD PEACE

The plan's adoption was hailed in official quarters as a long step toward smoothing Europe's ruffled peace, and incidentally toward putting into effect the Anglo-Italian friendship pact of April 16. The treaty becomes effective when a "settlement" has been reached in Spain.

Already the assent of Insurgent General Franco has been forecast.

The committee had wrangled almost a year over the problem, however, and great obstacles still intervene.

Even if both sides in Spain consent, the ponderous procedure outlined would require several months before actual evacuation takes place, it was believed.

COUNTING LATER

The question of appointing personnel of the commissions to be sent to Spain to count the alien soldiers on each side was to be taken up later.

The scheme embraced granting both sides belligerent rights after "substantial withdrawal," and re-establishment of international sea and land controls to enforce the non-intervention committee's regulations.

Meanwhile, the Board of Trade was reported attempting to obtain unofficial pledges from British shipping companies that they would not transport any goods to Government Spain which they would be prohibited under international law from carrying to a belligerent without violating neutrality.

The purpose of such a pledge would be to facilitate an agreement with the insurgents for establishment of more than one "safety port" in Government Spain.

SAYS UNITY THREATENED

money merely in a party spirit. Loyalty to party is not a religion. One purpose, and one purpose only, can make this party an instrument for the good of Canada, for the good of our country. That purpose is to use the collective power for the general good."

MANY MANIFESTATIONS

Forces of disintegration and disruption are working ceaselessly in Canada, said Mr. Bennett. They had many manifestations—the denial of the supremacy of the Federal Parliament, the abrogation of the ties binding the provinces to the Dominion, the subjugation of a national conception of loyalty to a provincial conception.

"The gallant men who died in France were not the badge of a province, but the badge of Canada. This nation is a union of provinces, not of separate sovereignties."

The convention must find a way to translate its aspirations into action. It must find a programme adequate to care for the needs of a stricken people.

"Your resolutions committee wrestles with these problems. Let us pray they succeed."

BIG CROWD AT BANQUET

The provincial leaders from all the provinces except British Columbia and Quebec addressed a throng, estimated at 2,000 persons, who crowded the banquet hall of the Ottawa Exhibition Grounds.

Herbert Anscomb, Member of the British Columbia Legislature for Victoria, injected a strong demand for action by the Dominion Government to deal with the Japanese question on the Pacific Coast.

"It has become such a serious economic problem," he declared, "that I am going to say if it is not dealt with by the national Government, you will force the people of British Columbia to deal with it themselves."

TRIBUTE TO BENNETT

R. L. Maitland, Conservative Member of the British Columbia Legislature for Vancouver-Point Grey, paid tribute to the leadership of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who would be remembered "as long as history is written and great men are remembered." He was leaving behind him a record and an inspiration that would prompt the party to "march forward forever and a day."

Mr. Maitland was critical of the "suggestions thrown out before the Rowell Commission by Mitchell Hepburn." In those the Ontario Premier was sowing in the minds of the Canadian people the seeds of something that would wreck Confederation. British Columbia's delegation was present to protest against that, and against the man who seemed to have no appreciation of the Dominion of Canada, and of that Empire partnership of which all were proud.

RADIO PERMITS SHOW INCREASE

Figures for Last Fiscal Year 65,707 Above Preceding Twelve Months

The final statement of the Department of Transport, Radio Division, showing comparative figures for licences issued in Canada for the fiscal years 1937-38 and 1936-37 was made public by E. J. Haughton, divisional superintendent here, yesterday.

The total number of radio licences issued for the entire Dominion in the last fiscal period was 1,104,207, as against a total of 1,038,500 in the prior twelve-month period. Ontario led the provinces with 445,867, compared with 424,126 in 1936-37, with Quebec second with 268,650 in 1937-38, the 1936 total being 204,105. British Columbia was in third place with 100,251, compared with 91,978 in the previous year. Saskatchewan was the only province showing a decrease, dropping from 68,193 in 1936-37 to 62,636 in 1937-38.

Montreal was the leading city with 150,544 paid licences in the last year, compared with 135,251 in 1936-37. Toronto was second with 128,753 in the past year, as against 120,055 for the previous twelve months. Vancouver was in third place, slightly ahead of Winnipeg, with 49,550 in 1937-38, compared with 47,172 in 1936-37. Victoria's gain was slight, the last year's figures being 10,943, as against 10,746 the year before.

Blind persons were granted 3,155 licences in 1937-38, as against a total of 2,758 in 1936-37.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, July 5 — Members of the National Harbor Board, Ottawa, will pay their mid-Summer visit to the Port of Vancouver in August, for the semi-annual inspection, according to K. J. Burns, port manager.

Mr. Burns said that the board is anxious to present the usual new hat to the master of the first ship loading a full cargo, composed entirely of 1938 wheat for the new season.

John H. Gordon, representative of the Peninsular & Oriental, London, has been here since Monday on business, and will leave tonight for the East.

The annual Association of Pacific Coast Port Authorities' convention will be held this year at Portland, Oregon, August 17 to 20, inclusive. The programme includes two Vancouver speakers, C. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager Canadian Pacific Railway, and K. J. Burns, Vancouver port manager and vice-president of the association.

Two passengers, now enjoying a cruise to Sitka on C.P.Ss. Princess Charlotte, had a busy morning Monday when they discovered they had awakened late, and the ship had sailed. They informed company officials, who wirelessed the master of the Charlotte to heave-to and await a speedboat, which whisked the passengers aboard just outside the First Narrows, on English Bay.

Their Excellencies General and Mrs. Eugen Ott, Berlin and Tokio, will return to Japan on the Empress of Asia, Saturday. General Ott, German Ambassador to Japan, is returning from a holiday in Europe.

Seineing in the restricted spring salmon area known as the Fraser River grounds will commence September 1, according to 1938 regulations. Canners say the present price for red springs is 11 cents per pound for fish over fifteen pounds, and 8 cents for fish under that weight.

One halibut boat, Bruce No. 1, sold 6,000 pounds at 5 cents, 9,000 pounds at 6.8 cents and 6,000 pounds ling cod at 2.4 cents here today.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

TEST SANITY OF CONFESSED SLAYER

SEATTLE, July 5 (AP).—Police today planned sanity tests for Charles Felix Butte, fifty-eight, held without charge as a confessed wife-slayer, after Dr. L. R. Hutchins, city doctor, reported the formerly wealthy San Francisco contractor extremely nervous.

Butte was badly shaken yesterday when taken to the apartment where Mrs. Butte was found bludgeoned to death Friday.

The doctor reported that Butte appeared more concerned with a rash on his face than about his future.

"You told that man it was five minutes to the station, and it is a good twenty minutes."

"Yes, but he was nice and polite and he seemed so tired."

RESUMING ITS CANAL SERVICE

Panama Pacific Will Operate Five Steamers on New Schedule

The Panama Pacific Line will come back into the inter-coastal service with the sailing of the City of Los Angeles from New York on August 6, The Colonist is advised by the San Francisco office of United States Lines.

With the signing of a contract with the Carrier Corporation this week for air-conditioning installation in the passenger quarters and additional refrigerator cargo space in five former Baltimore Mail Line vessels, the Panama Pacific Line completed plans for the continuation of the service which was discontinued last April. Work is already under way aboard the City of Los Angeles at Baltimore. She was formerly the City of Havre. Four other ships, the City of San Francisco, City of Norfolk, City of Baltimore and City of Newport News will follow the City of Los Angeles in a weekly service.

Ports of call from San Francisco to New York will be Los Angeles, Acapulco, Balboa, Cristobal and Havana. Westbound from New York, the steamers will call at Baltimore, Balboa, Acapulco and Los Angeles. The stopovers scheduled on the itinerary will allow time for sightseeing in the most attractive of the ports of call, with eight hours at Balboa in the Canal Zone.

POPULAR ROUTE

The five sister ships are particularly well adapted to offer a first-class passenger service on a route which has long been popular as a vacation cruise, and the company will continue to operate the wide variety of all-expense vacation tours that have been a successful feature of the Canal service for many years, and include the well-established circle tours of America.

The five ships will be in command of the same ship masters under whom they achieved a high degree of popularity in the trans-Atlantic trade between Baltimore and Hamburg. Many of these men have been in the ships since they inaugurated the Baltimore Mail Line's service in 1930.

That Body of Yours by James W. Barton, M.D.

THREE SMPTOMS OF HEART DISEASE MAY BE PRESENT WHERE THERE IS NO HEART DISEASE

There was a time when a pain under the breast bone was called stomach-ache and if the pain persisted and death followed it was said to be due to acute indigestion. As a matter of fact, pain under breast bone is one of the outstanding symptoms of heart trouble and in most cases is caused by an insufficient supply of blood to the heart muscle itself due to disease or spasm of the little blood vessels which carry the blood to the heart from the large or main blood vessel—the aorta. It is called angina pectoris.

In pointing out the above fact, Dr. H. N. Jennings, Calgary, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, states that "It is important to distinguish between a simple attack of angina pectoris from coronary occlusion (blocking or part blocking of the vessels supplying the heart). The attack of angina pectoris is rarely more than a few minutes; if the pain persists for half an hour it is the more serious condition—coronary occlusion."

There are many conditions which cause pain in the left side of the chest and frighten patients with the thought of heart disease. Crampy pains may be caused by constipation, by pleurisy, by rheumatism or arthritis of the spine, and shingles (herpes zoster).

Another early symptom of heart disease is breathlessness on exertion. If one gets out of breath doing some slight or ordinary task it would be well to have the heart examined, although too much acid food with insufficient exercise will also cause breathlessness.

Palpitation can be a true or false sign of heart disease because, as Dr. Jennings points out, palpitation is a symptom that depends largely on the mental type of the patient. Many nervous individuals with normal hearts have hearts that beat rapidly due to their nervous or emotional dispositions. Also, after recovery from an acute infection, the heart may not be completely free of the poison and palpitation may be present for some time after the patient has recovered. "The patient complaining of palpitation should always have a careful examination, as serious damage to the heart may be present with no other complaint, although more often no damage is present."

The first point then is that three symptoms of heart disease—pain under breast bone, breathlessness, and palpitation—may one or all be present where there is no heart disease.

The second point is that when one or all are present an examination should be made.

JOHNNY FALLON MEDALIST IN BRITISH TOURNEY

Powerful Teams To Clash Today At Crosley Park

Best Material in American and National Baseball Leagues All Set for Annual Game—Johnny Vandermeer to Open Against "Lefty" Gomez—American Circuit Favored

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

CINCINNATI, July 5 (AP).—The much-maligned National League's baseball forces, victims of American League powerhouse methods on most pay-off fronts for several years, will put their hopes for an all-star comeback tomorrow upon a worthy but comparatively young and inexperienced cast. Gambling on new blood to turn the tables, after defeat in four or five previous all-star matches, the Nationals will take the field against their favored foes at 10:30 a.m. (P.S.T.) before a capacity gallery of 28,000 fans at Crosley Field, home grounds of the Reds.

LEFTY GOMEZ

Young Johnny Vandermeer, Cincinnati's southpaw hero of two successive no-hit pitching performances this season, who never has even seen an all-star contest, will start against the veteran Vernon Gomez, Yankee lefty, who hurled in all four of the Americans' victorious games and was credited personally with triumphs in three of them.

TWO SURVIVORS

Only two survivors of the National League's 1937 starting array, Second Baseman Billy Herman, of the Cubs, and Outfielder Joe Medwick, of the Cardinals, will be in tomorrow's initial cast, whereas six of the nine American League players nominated for this year's batting order figured in the rout of the Nationals at Washington last Summer.

Four of the Nationals, all representing the home-town Reds, will make their all-star debut as starters, while the Americans will unveil only two newcomers, John "Buddy" Lewis, of Washington, at third base, instead of New York's Red Rolfe, and Mike Kreevich, of the White Sox, in left field.

Betting men tonight quoted 8-5 against the chances of a National League victory. Odds of 10-13 were quoted against the powerful Americans. The game was a sellout, pending disposal of standing room for around 2,000 addicts an hour before game-time. Balmy weather was forecast.

Chief magnet was the prospect of seeing Vandermeer turn on the heat against such American League clouters as Jimmy Foxx, Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dickey, Earl Averill, Charley Gehirnger and Joe Cronin.

TO START GAME

The young Cincinnati southpaw met his first defeat in ten games last Sunday but he's been the hottest pitcher in either big league all Spring.

Bill Terry's plans, as boss of the Nationals, call for Hubbell or Bill Lee, Chicago right-hander, to follow Vandermeer for the second three-inning trick. Mace Brown, ace relief flinger of the Pirates, is slated for duty in the final three frames. Only in case the game goes into extra innings can a pitcher, under the all-star rules, work more than three innings.

Johnny Allen, star right-hander of Cleveland Indians, is the choice of Manager Joe McCarthy to follow Gomez in the box for the Americans. Bob Grove, veteran southpaw of Boston Red Sox, probably will be third pitcher, but McCarthy was undecided tonight. Marse Joe has eight flingers at his call, including his own Red Ruffing and Johnny Murphy, top-notch relief pitcher.

MURPHY SELECTED

Murphy's selection as a post-entry on the all-star list bids fair to stir up an American League storm. Fordham Johnny was named to fill a vacancy created by withdrawal of Hank Greenberg, Detroit's ailing first-baseman. Cleveland partisans just about went up in smoke when McCarthy passed up the second chance to add hammering Hal Trosky, their first-baseman, to the list.

No doubt McCarthy believed Foxx had clinched the first-base job by his great hitting, which forced Lou Gehrig, Yankee iron man, to take a seat on the bench for the first time in all-star history. Gehrig's only chance to see some action, and keep his playing record intact, is as a pinch hitter.

YORKS HELD TO DEADLOCK

Heavy Rain Forces Draw With Australians—Universities in Tie

LONDON, July 5 (AP).—Yorkshire lost a chance to hand the Australians their first county cricket defeat since 1912 today when heavy rain forced drawing of stumps at the luncheon interval, ending a three-day match that started on Saturday.

At close of play yesterday, Yorkshire needed only 150 runs to give the Aussies their first beating of the current English tour. In today's play, H. Sutcliffe, Yorkshire's hard-hitting batsman, rolled up 36 runs, not out, to add to his team's total of 83 runs for three wickets, when the match was abandoned.

The Yorkshiremen dismissed the Antipodeans for totals of 222 and 132 previously, scoring 205 in their first stand at the wickets. T. F. Smailes, fast-medium trundler, took six Aussie wickets for 92 runs in the first innings and put out four for 45 in the second.

Rain today resulted in many drawn games being played in the current county cricket series. Hampshire defeated Essex by 227 runs, while Gloucestershire took first innings' points from Glamorgan. Similar decisions went to Middlesex over Worecestershire, Lancashire over Nottinghamshire, and Kent over Derbyshire.

SURREY WINS

Surrey also won first innings' points from Sussex, Warwickshire from Leicestershire, and Somerset from Northamptonshire. The annual match between Oxford and Cambridge Universities at Lord's was drawn. Closing scores:

Surrey, 547; Sussex, 250 and 22 for no wickets; at The Oval.

Kent, 201 and 70 for two wickets; Derbyshire, 116; at Buxton.

Glamorgan, 113 and 151 for three; Gloucestershire, 183, at Neath.

Hampshire, 195 and 323; Essex, 127 and 164, at Portsmouth.

Lancashire, 441 for seven, declared; Nottinghamshire, 209 and 32 for two wickets, at Manchester.

Somerset, 354 and 181; Northamptonshire, 248 and 221 for seven; at Kettering.

Warwickshire, 348; Leicester, 176 and 263 for eight wickets; at Birmingham.

Middlesex, 346 and 85 for four, declared; at Worcester.

Oxford, 317 and 128 for six; Cambridge, 425; at Lord's.

TONY GALENTO RATED SECOND TO CHAMPION

New Jersey Bartender Is Ranked Next to Joe Louis by Officials

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP).—Tony Galento, the New Jersey bartender, stood next to Joe Louis today in a new rating of heavyweights by the National Boxing Association.

Harvey L. Miller, chairman of the N.B.A. ratings committee, said Galento won the No. 1 challenger's spot by his "consistent knockout wins and the fact that he is willing and anxious to meet Joe Louis or any other heavyweight, Baer or Farr preferred."

Other heavyweights were ranked behind Galento in this order: Max Baer, Tommy Farr, Bob Pastor, Max Schmeling, Gunnar Barland, Roscoe Toles, Clarence (Red) Burman, Al McCoy and Nathan Mann.

The flyweight title was declared vacant. Champion Benny Lynch was deposed because he weighed 118½ pounds, six and one-half pounds over the limit, in a recent bout with Jackie Jurich.

CANADIANS NAMED

Four Canadian fighters were recognized, two of them in the bantamweight class. Winnipeg's Johnny Gaudes was ranked seventh in the division, with Baby Yack, of Toronto, next in line as a contender for the title held by Sixto Escobar, of Puerto Rico.

Although he is generally considered a lightweight, Maxie Berger, of Montreal, was placed eighth in the welterweight division ruled by Henry Armstrong, of Los Angeles.

Claimant to the Canadian lightweight title, Maxie weighed 140 pounds for most of his bouts in New York. The Canadian welter king, Frankie Genovese, of Toronto, who recently challenged for Armstrong's title, was not listed.

Tiger Terry Warrington, belting negro from Liverpool, N.S., rounded out the Canadian foursome to gain contender recognition by the N.B.A. He was listed tenth in the light-heavyweight class, which has another negro as champion, John Henry Lewis, of Phoenix, Ariz.

Reg Wenman's Century Is Highlight of Victory

Victoria Batsman Scores Even 100 in Team's Win Over Vancouver by Ten Wickets as Cricket Tournament Continues on Mainland

VANCOUVER, July 5 (AP).—Centuries by Doug Thompson and Reg Wenman for Okanagan and Victoria, respectively, featured the second day's play in the Vancouver Golden Jubilee Cricket Festival Week at Brockton Point today. Thompson, an Edmonton cricketer holidaying in Vancouver, scored 110, while Wenman compiled an even 100 before retiring.

Calgary continued their winning march by beating the Vancouver Wednesday League XI seven wickets in a two-innings match, and now lead the tournament with two straight victories. Victoria downed Vancouver by ten wickets, also in a two-innings game, this being the Islanders' first start in the series. Okanagan beat Trail by 90 runs in the third contest, and are now tied with Vancouver and the Wednesday League XI with one victory and one defeat each, while Burrards, who had a bye today, have lost one game, and Trail has suffered two defeats in a row.

When only three wickets were down for 52 runs, of which Norman Pearson had made 32, Vancouver looked in for a good score against Victoria, but A. J. Darcus and C. W. Twite got to work with the ball, and the last seven wickets only added four runs, six men being dismissed with the score standing at 55. Darcus sent back four men at a cost of 6 runs, and Twite took four wickets for 24.

SCORES CENTURY

Victoria quickly hit off the runs, Wenman making two sixes and ten fours in his century, which took him eighty-five minutes to compile. He was missed when 12 and again at 18, and afterwards gave two or three hard chances when definitely "having a go." C. W. Twite and A. B. Flack also scored freely and the closure was applied with only seven wickets down.

Going in a second time against new bowlers Vancouver just saved the innings defeat, Norman Pearson making 65 for top score in a splendid innings. Thorne sent back eight men at a cost of 85 runs. Victoria hit off the required two runs in one over.

SCOTCH SHOTMAKER FINISHES A STROKE AHEAD OF CHAMPION

Young Internationalist Leads Defending Titleholder, Henry Cotton, With Card of 142—Alf Perry, 1936 Winner, Misses Fine Chance to Lead Field With Poor Last Nine Holes

By SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SANDWICH, England, July 5 (AP).—Johnny Fallon, twenty-five-year-old Scottish internationalist, today took a one-stroke lead over defending champion Henry Cotton in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round for the British open golf championship.

Drenched by a storm early in the day, Cotton beat par by a stroke at Prince's course with a 71 for 143, while Fallon, who went out after the storm died away, shot a 73 over the same course to add to the 69 he posted yesterday at St. George's.

Cotton three-putted the sixth and seventeenth greens but otherwise played faultless golf. A. J. Lacey and Eddie Whitcombe, first-day leaders with 68's, both scrambled out in 37 at Prince's and had even more trouble coming home.

Wally Smithers, of Sunningdale, who polished his long-hitting game as an assistant professional at the Royal Ottawa Golf Club, scored a 151 to qualify by a margin of six strokes. His score today was 74. General A. C. Critchley, Calgary-born sports promoter, edged in with 77-78—155.

Former champion Alf Perry missed a fine chance to lead the field. Working on an opening 69, he went out in 34 at St. George's, then took 41 to get home for 75 and 144, which tied him with Whitcombe, Bobby Locke, the young South African sensation, and four others.

The qualifying round leaders, with Royal St. George's scores given first:

John Fallon	69-73—142
Henry Cotton	72-71—143
Dai Rees	71-73—144

BELLINGHAM TO PLAY SATURDAY

Heavy-Hitting U.S. Baseball Nine Will Oppose Victoria All-Stars

HEADING the Bellingham Community Baseball League with twelve victories and three defeats, the hard-hitting Superior Meat Market ball-tossers will be seen in action Saturday afternoon and evening at the Royal Athletic Park. Victoria Baseball Association officials yesterday completed final details in connection with the appearance here of the first American squad of the season, and announced that the games will be played at 2:30 o'clock and 6 o'clock.

Joe Martinolich, veteran ball player and manager of the Bellingham nine, will pilot his boys against the Victoria All-Stars in the international exhibition series. Martinolich played here a few years ago and will be remembered for his heavy hitting. He still poles out plenty of base knocks and has a batting average of .440. In fact a number of the Bellingham batters are really hitting the ball with only two of their eleven players being below .300, while the team average is .340.

CAGEY VETERAN

Martinolich, cagey veteran of the diamond pastime, shares the hurling duties with Ed Brown and Baker and when he is not tossing up fast balls he is doing the chores in the outer gardens. Baker is a University of Washington twirler. Other members of the team are: Decker, c.f.; Makawa, s.s.; Call, r.f.; Smith, c.; Rea, 3b.; Johnson, 2b.; G. Brown, 1b.; Pope, 3b., and Gerard, l.f.

Victoria All-Stars will probably be named at tonight's meeting in The Colonist board room at 8.30 o'clock. No announcement has been made, but it is quite probable that Ray Maitland, big Victoria Club hurler, who struck out eighteen men Monday evening, will be sent in against the hard-hitting visitors.

GAME TONIGHT

With a new hurler to throw in against the Navy, Manager Bill Bridgewood's Eagles ball tossers will open their bid for the Rithet Cup, emblematic of the city championship, this evening at the Royal Athletic Park. Manager Charlie McDonald, of the sailor nine, has some new material among the R.C.N.V.R. from the Prairies and hopes to be able to trot out a strong nine for the opening cup game. Play will get under way at 6:15 o'clock with Redgrave and Renfree as umpires.

Softballers to Clash Tomorrow

The Victoria and District Commercial Softball League officials have arranged an exhibition game between a team selected from the Relief Project Workers' Union and the Mount Tolmie C.C.F., tomorrow evening, at Heywood Avenue at 6.30 o'clock.—Fred Tooby will be the umpire.

Henpeck (who has just overheard his wife scolding the maid)—"You and I both seem to be in the same unfortunate position, Jane."

Maid—"Not likely! I'm giving her a week's notice tomorrow."

TIME OUT! - - - By Chet Smith

From Now On I'll Be Able to Shoot My Lions While They Are Chasing Me!

LIFE'S LIKE THAT - By Fred Neher

"Gosh, What a Day! Listened to Fourteen Watches Tick, Showed Off My Tooth Eight Times and Nearly Walked!"

Jane Dixon Says:

A READER WHO FOLLOWED MY ADVICE IS GLAD NOW BECAUSE IT LED HIM TO A JOB

So much bad news comes over this desk, that when a "Good News" bulletin turns up in the mail we like to boast about it.

We must admit that at this time, Youth is in a pretty discouraging spot. Youth prepares itself for good work, but finds that the few jobs open are flying the "Experienced Workers Only," flag.

But how can Youth become experienced in work until it has worked?

That is the problem, the solution for which we hope and pray, and patriots and humanitarians endeavor to find.

Remember this, you beginners in the workaday world—to be helped, you must help yourselves. You can not afford to be a defeatist these days. You can not afford to lag, to whine, to question. You must get in there and dig!

Dear Jane Dixon: Remember me? I'm the fellow who wrote to you and said I was about to give up, that there was no place for beginners in this modern world, and maybe the best thing to do was to make a quick exit.

When you answered you told me I was a cry-baby and a quitter; that it took more courage to live sometimes than it did to die

I had just finished high school, where I finished first in the business course and won a medal. You said I should forget the medal, start out every morning and start ringing doorbells for a job; any old job, and to keep ringing until I found one.

Well, Miss Dixon, at first I thought you were kind of hard on me, but after a while that bell-ringing appealed to me, so I decided to try it out.

Believe it or not, those bells turned out to be the biggest adventure I've had in my life. When I put my finger on the button, I never knew what it would lead to. Sometimes it would be a lawn mower, sometimes a car-washing job—I've even took care of a baby while his mother went to her bridge club.

Then one day I started ringing bells down the main business street of our town. I cleaned up one side and was half way down the other when I "landed!" In the office of a law firm which needed a business-trained clerk for general work. Small salary, but enough to get by on, and with it goes a chance to read law. So I'm going to be a lawyer! Whoopee!

Thanks, Miss Dixon. That "riding" you gave me certainly got results.—G.M.T.

Comment: Now that you have your start, dig into those law books, G.M.T., and be the best lawyer in your or any other district. Thanks for the cheers.

What Today Means

"CANCER"

If July 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.; from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

There may be many circumstances that will cause you to become disturbed mentally, unless you are careful. Do not indulge in self-pity or mull over fancied grievances. Keep busy this day, for activity is apt to be the only preventive you can count on to save you from a feeling of dissatisfaction with the world in general. Numerous ways to make money might be revealed to the earnest seeker. If your plan for any kind of social diversion involves someone else you had better consult that person to make sure the plan is carried out. It might pay you to be nice to someone you have a good reason to dislike.—Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, must avoid deceit if they wish to get through the day without quarreling.

If a woman and July 6 is your birthday, there are many indications that you will make a great success of your life. Don't allow temporary setbacks to discourage you. Make all the friends you can, for the time is likely to come when your friends will be your most valuable asset. You might have to learn to be methodical before you can make the progress you should. Reading ought to be one of your favorite forms of relaxation. You are probably very considerate of the feelings of other people, particularly if they work for or with you. Through painting, sculptoring, writing, acting or selling you may make a reputation second to none. Every phase of your married life is likely to be exactly as you hoped.

The child born on July 6 should have exceptional intelligence. A good disposition and a ready sense of humor will win it many friends.

If a man and July 6 is your natal day, you probably have a remarkable amount of self-control. You should have very good taste, particularly in the matter of clothing. As an educator, naturalist, sculptor, artist, author, engineer, clergyman or sales agent you may be highly honored and reap a rich financial reward.

First post 3:15 p.m.

While walking over the golf course two youths became interested in the antics of a player. Not knowing anything about the game they were highly amused at his frantic efforts to release the ball, which was bunkered not far from the green.

After numerous vain attempts, two broken clubs and golfer's language, the miracle happened. A wonderful shot carried the ball straight to the green, up to the pin and into the hole.

The two youths stood gaping at one another until finally one said, "I say, Bill, he's going to have a rough time now."

LICENSING PROCEEDING

Fuel Board Expects 3,000 Applications Under New Provincial Regulations

Approximately 3,000 licence applications may be filed under the British Columbia Coal and Petroleum Control Board, by coal, oil and gasoline dealers wishing to remain in business after August 15, it was said yesterday by Dr. W. A. Carrothers, composing the one-man board.

The date August 15, Dr. Carrothers said, was discussed with those in the industry, and was accepted by them as sufficient time in which to apply for registration. While there are no exact data on the number of primary, wholesale and retail outlets for gas and oil within the province, the board expects at least 3,000 applications will be made.

STUDY NEXT STEP

Technically, under the new regulations, all applications must be made on or before July 15, with all unlicensed businesses in the sale of coal, gasoline and oil to cease on August 15, on the part of both vendors and buyers. A licence fee of $1 will be charged for each outlet, and this must be renewed yearly.

Asked whether the Government would go on to the full extent of the powers of the statute and fix prices for coal and petroleum products, Premier Pattullo said that would depend upon the recommendations of the commissioner, Dr. Carrothers. At present, registration was intended, the Premier said.

Baby Killed by Truck on Farm

ABBOTSFORD, July 5 (CP.)—Police today probed the death of seventeen-month-old Verda McGarva, accidentally run over by her grandfather's truck on a farm near here last night.

Police said they were told Milton Nelles did not see Verda playing in the yard. The vehicle struck the child and one wheel passed over her body.

Two darkies were taken up for their first flight in an airplane. When the machine landed again at the airport, only one darkie sat in the cockpit.

"Say, Snowball," said one of the mechanics, "what happened to your friend?"

"Wasl, suh," the negro replied, "back about six miles he fell out unfo'tunately. Fo'tunately dere was a load of hay below him, but unfo'tunately dere was a pitchfork stickin' out of de hay. Waal, fo'tunately he missed de pitchfork, but unfo'tunately he missed the hay."

Heart on Her Sleeve

CHAPTER IX

When Sunny Tucker smiled, the world smiled with him. His was a disposition so funny that his close friends scarcely remembered that he really had been born Thurston Carstairs Tucker. From babyhood his parents had called him Sunny because of the same gay smile he now turned on Moleen, Jed and Mignon.

Moleen thought he looked exactly like the pictures she'd seen in the newspapers as he beamed on her after they had been introduced.

"Swell of you to come, Minnie!" as he sat down.

Mignon made a face.

"Sunny's the only man, still alive, who's ever called me Minnie."

"If I catch another man calling you by my own special term of endearment he won't be alive long, Minnie, my love." He blew an airy kiss.

He turned to smile at Moleen.

"And may I call you Molly? Or do you think we've known each other long enough?"

"That's what my father and mother always called me," Moleen revealed. "My brother Pat calls me Moll, but I wouldn't advise you to go that far. I might lose my temper."

"For a day or so," Sunny decided, "I'll be formal and call you Moleen."

"Then he'll probably compromise on Toots," said Mignon.

When they got up to dance, Mignon, knowing Sunny would see Moleen often, told him a little of how she had met her. But she swore him to secrecy. They agreed that it was best to introduce Moleen as an old friend of the family to make sure no one would snub her.

Sunny himself despised snobs. He had as mixed a group of personal friends as ever graced or disgraced a bachelor apartment.

Later, Mignon told Sunny about Jed, and related the story of his kindness to Moleen. When she asked Sunny to give Jed a chance in his band he was not so enthusiastic.

"You know I'd do anything for you, Minnie," he told her. "But I'm keeping four men with my outfit now I can't afford, because I don't like to see them out of work. How do you know he can sing?"

"I've never heard him," Mignon admitted, "but I'll bet my last dollar he can. With that personality, if he really is a good baritone, you might have a gold mine."

Well, there was no harm in asking him to sing a number with the band, and because he knew it would please Mignon, Sunny issued the invitation when they returned to the table.

"Mignon tells me you're a singer," he said, turning to Jed. "A gang like this always likes a surprise artist. How about doing a number with my band?"

"Oh, Jed, do!" Moleen jumped excitedly.

"I'd be glad to," Jed said simply, "if I can borrow a banjo. I'd prefer singing alone, if it's the same to you, Tucker."

Sunny applauded Jed, mentally, because he had taken the invitation like a veteran. There was nothing amateurish or anxious in his manner when Sunny introduced him and he sat down with the banjo to sing.

For a few seconds the crowd was noisy. But after a few bars of "Shortin' Bread," a silence fell on the room. Diners from the outside porches moved to the doors, and at the end of the number there was a roar of applause.

Sunny was amazed at the reception of the lanky Kentuckian. Jed gave them one of his wide smiles, tossed a stray lock of hair back, and strumming softly, sang "Mah Curly-Headed Baby." It was amazing to Sunny that he could give that wild Fourth of July bunch a number like that and make them yell for more. He sang four times before they would let him go.

Mignon's cheeks were pink with excitement when the two men made their way back to the table. Moleen's eyes were brimming with happy tears.

"Oh, Jed!" she cried. "You were marvelous! I know you're going to be famous some day. They're mad about you."

Mignon turned to Sunny and said under her breath:

"Now are you sorry I got you into this? I've never heard anything like him."

"Not bad," Sunny admitted with his favorite smile, and turned to Jed. "How would you like to sing a couple of weeks with my band? If you go over like this, the job will be permanent."

Jed swallowed.

"It would be a great honor, Tucker, to sing with your outfit. Name your own terms."

Dancing with Moleen, Jed gave her a tight squeeze.

AMENDE HONORABLE

Used frequently in international parlance, though popular in everyday language, the French expression Amende Honorable imported bodily into the English lexicon connotes simply honorable compensation for injury or insult.

However, though today the amende honorable is a gentleman's apology coupled with making good for a wrong done, originally it was something altogether different; it was the name reserved for a particular form of humiliating punishment inflicted upon criminals only—especially traitors, forgers and fraudulent bankrupts.

The amende honorable was part of the Roman, French and Dutch systems of jurisprudence. It consisted of stripping the culprit to the waist, tying a rope about his neck, placing a lighted taper in his hand and an inscription on his breast, and leading him publicly to the court or town square, where the victim implored pardon of God and the king—an open avowal, acknowledgment and recantation of crime.

The practice was abolished in 1791, restored in 1825 and again suppressed in 1830.

In the Roman Catholic Church, the phrase is applied to prayers of reparation for sacrilege.

HANDICAPPED

At a gathering of bishops, a waiter tripped when serving soup and spilt the contents all over one of the divines.

The victim jumped up, stuttered, went red, and finally blurted out: "Will someone not in Holy Orders please say something appropriate?"

Suspender Dress With Jacket

That Every Girl Adores

Copen blue crash combined with red dimity with blue dots in this popular suspender ensemble. It will do double duty, too, for the jacket may be worn with other skirts and over some cotton print frocks. A peasant cotton percale print with the shirt blouse of solid colored cotton in a tone picked out of the print, is another very smart and practical scheme. Extra blouse will give lots more variety at little extra cost and keep daughter spic and span. Candy striped chambray, pique, linen, etc., are other lovely suggestions. The pattern is so easily followed, the price so pleasingly low, you will want to make several in different fabrics.

Style No. 2656 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires ¾ yard of 39-inch material for blouse with 2¼ yards of plaiting; suspender skirt requires 1¼ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 39-inch material for bolero.

SKUNKS CAUSE CRASH OF CARS ON ROAD

STAUNTON, Va., July 5 (AP.)—Mother skunk and all the little skunks, disregarding the traffic, strolled nonchalantly across the highway.

V. A. Moyer stopped his car to let his children watch the skunk parade. But J. L. Coffey didn't see the skunks or the Moyers, and crashed into the rear of the Moyer car. Mrs. Coffey's arm was broken and three Coffey children were injured.

VERSATILE STAR IN "ROBIN HOOD"

Of all the heroes of fact and fiction, there's none so beloved or dashing as Robin Hood—the outlaw of Sherwood Forest. Celebrated in song and story, in opera and in the silent movies, Robin now appears in brand new guise in Warner Bros.' technicolor production, "The Adventures of Robin Hood," which will start today at the Atlas Theatre.

Errol Flynn, a veritable reincarnation of the legendary Robin, plays the title role. Handsome, young and adventurous, Flynn makes the perfect Robin Hood. Sharing honors with him is the demurely lovely Olivia de Havilland, portraying his lady-love, Maid Marian.

Besides Flynn, Miss de Havilland and Basil Rathbone, there is a splendid supporting cast.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Atlas—"The Adventures of Robin Hood," starring Errol Flynn.

Capitol — Wallace Beery in "Port of Seven Seas."

Columbia—"Way Out West," starring Laurel and Hardy.

Dominion—Claude Rains in "White Banners."

Oak Bay—"The Goldwyn Follies," starring Adolphe Menjou.

Plaza—Edward G. Robinson in "Thunder in the City."

OAK BAY THEATRE Hollywood's twelve loveliest and most accomplished tap dancers appear in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Goldwyn Follies," the technicolor musical, which is now at the Oak Bay Theatre. Final selections eliminated ten days of tests, during which 150 girls were given tryouts. "The Goldwyn Follies" is released through United Artists.

CAPITOL THEATRE John Beal and Maureen O'Sullivan comprise the latest in screen love teams. The two are seen in support of Wallace Beery in "Port of Seven Seas," which will end today at the Capitol Theatre. Also in the new drama of life and love on the Marseille waterfront are Frank Morgan and Jessie Ralph.

COLUMBIA THEATRE The vogue of the popularity in Western pictures now includes so rollicking and stellar a team of comic stars as Laurel and Hardy, who will play for the last times today at the Columbia Theatre in the Hal Roach-M-G-M- feature-length comedy, "Way Out West."

DOMINION THEATRE "White Banners," now at the Dominion, is based on the best-selling novel by Lloyd C. Douglas, who also authored those popular successes, "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light." "White Banners" is a picture with universal appeal.

PLAZA THEATRE London's growing importance as a film producing capital in rivalry with Hollywood takes on added significance with the release of the new Columbia film, "Thunder in the City," starring Edward G. Robinson with Luli Deste, which will show for the last times today at the Plaza Theatre.

DARING NATIVES SEEN IN SOUTH SEA DRAMA

During the production of "Zamboanga," the thrilling and dramatic picture which depicts an exotic South Sea romance against the beautiful background of the Sulu Sea, which will start tomorrow at the Plaza Theatre, the native players in this remarkable production took many chances.

This was particularly true in the scenes where the "villain" of the engrossing story meets his just doom. The daring native who portrayed this role actually ventured into a crocodile-infested stream to secure the stark realism for which this picture is noteworthy.
